Thread: Satoshi-Era Bitcoin Whale Moves \$180M in BTC to Coinbase

Sholi - February 1, 2026, 9:18 am

Some dude from Satoshi-era with a wallet that hasn't been touched in 15 years just moved 2000 BTC to Coinbase.

What do we think about this HF?

Yeah, something weird definitely feels like it's going on in the market.

A wallet moving coins after 15 years is never random, especially when it goes straight to Coinbase.

Having over $100m is just enough to enjoy and live life. Put that into a savings account and it'll be earning a few millions annually.

I think the FUD is getting to people. We're about to face an economic crisis imho. Potentially getting out with whatever you can could be a very smart play.

SP500 and Crypto (crypto's marketcap compared to SP500 is a laugh) will both crash, and this will drag down everything else with it.

I did just that earlier this week. Better to get out while you're still ahead. Or you could wait around, and see what happens. I prefer not to take those chances.
