Thread: Amazon SES - Multi Region (London & Oregon)

AB33770 - February 1, 2026, 6:20 pm

Hi,

A lot of people here have started selling AWS Amazon SES accounts with Production Access (50K/day).

Finally, I'm doing it too.

From now on, I will have these regions available in stock:

? US East (N. Virginia)
? EU (Ireland)
? US West (Oregon)

? 2 Regions with Production Access:

USA – Oregon (us-west-2) -> Daily quota 50K,
UK – London (eu-west-2) -> Daily quota 50K

Payment and delivery will be handled only via HackForums middleman (escrow). No exceptions.

Tested personally with mail-tester and mailgenius – around 98% inbox rate, meaning emails land directly in the inbox! ?

(If you need more proof's just ask me)

? Price: 1K in BTC or other cryptos.

1k for an 50k, that's steep, especially if you were begging me to sell you at $370 a month ago. Good luck still.

What seems to be the problem? I've figured out how to obtain production access and get it approved in AWS SES, and I'm setting it up for most accounts across two regions. Please don't interfere in my thread.

One more thing: this account that I’m selling has 2 multi-regions, which is why it costs $1K. The other accounts with a single region will be priced at $500.

Thank you.

Bye.

I need single region accounts. I only buy Virginia, so please contact me; let's stay in touch.

UPDATE

I increased the sending quota in (SES) from 50,000 to 88,000 emails per day within just one week, by consistently sending up to the allowed daily SMTP limits and properly warming up the account.

This was achieved in the Oregon (US-West-2) region, where I handled the complete technical setup, including:
Domain and DNS configuration

SPF, DKIM, and DMARC authentication

Proper domain/IP warm-up strategy

Deliverability optimization and reputation management

I achieved a 98% deliverability score on MailGenius, which is considered extremely difficult to reach and reflects a highly optimized authentication and sending setup.
