Thread: God has blessed me with another birthday this year.

jcole - February 3, 2026, 4:39 am

Thank you God for allowing me another birthday in this world. Shout out to all the members that are here still, and the one's that aren't. Many of you have played a vital role in my climb to sobriety and success in this life.

45 months sober. ?

That's an incredible milestone brother and you should be really proud of how far you've come. Staying sober for 45 months takes real strength, consistency and courage and it's clear you didn't do it alone. It's great to see you showing gratitude to the people who supported you along the way. Wishing you a happy happy birthday brother and many more healthy, meaningful years ahead. God bless you.

Awesome job man! proud of you. Happy birthday an here's to your next 45 months !

Rahul007rhp - February 4, 2026, 11:50 am

Happy birthday man

newproject20256 - February 8, 2026, 3:44 am

Happy Birthday

DeITex - February 8, 2026, 4:21 am

Good on you man. Personally, I feel, if I were to ever try and quit something that me remembering the day I stopped would just be a constant reminder of the thing I'm trying to move past. The thought itself would call me back to the habit in some way, but everyone is different. Either way, congrats and God bless - everyday (especially in todays world) is 1000% a gift worth being thankful for.

Bless the Lord o my soul, o Lord my God thou art very great: thou art clothes with honor and majesty. Psalm 104:1

Thank God for keeping you alive and healthy.
