

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Elon Wants AI to Skip Code and Spit Out Binaries. Thats Not Progress.

Stanley - February 18, 2026, 11:05 am

Elon Wants AI to Skip Code and Spit Out Binaries. That's Not Progress.

Skipping source code for AI-made binaries isn't the future—it's a rollback. Here's why compilers exist, and why "stochastic compilation" doesn't ship.

<https://hackernoon.com/elon-wants-ai-to-skip-code-and-spit-out-binaries-thats-not-progress?source=rss>

DramaKing - February 18, 2026, 12:05 pm

He clearly doesn't understand anything thinking that AI can generate straight machine code. Assembly, perhaps, but outputting binary from prompts is stupid.

Under this insane plan, Grok would have to generate an entire application flawlessly in one go.

Saterax - February 18, 2026, 12:15 pm

It hurts me to know there were people that looked up to him in the past, and that there are people that bow down at his feet and suck on his boots like he is a god even now.

At this point everything I read about him is just "(Insert dumb shit here) Crazy, right?" or the same nonsense about how humans on Mars is right around the corner but has been for a decade now, with the new focus on the Moon instead lol.

Bummer since the companies he owns are absolute units, made up of teams that keep the company afloat by continuously doing what people deemed impossible or incredibly hard, and get met with layoffs while he gets the credit while casually tweeting a few hundred times a day about misinformation or trying to give another OF girl extra ad money so they respond to him in the replies.

Not super related, just dislike him and feel as if everything he says is just based off what I assume is a 5 second google search that is taken at face value lmao.

Random but I love how he continuously tries to make Grok not "woke" but in turn figures out that it's just considered woke because it quotes statistical information with clear evidence, and when he tried to turn it down and stop, it started calling itself mechahitler.

I miss old Twitter. Fuck you Elon.

RangoWorld - February 18, 2026, 11:24 pm

(Feb 18, 2026 01:15 PM)Saterax Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It hurts me to know there were people that looked up to him in the past, and that there are people that bow down at his feet and suck on his boots like he is a god even now.

At this point everything I read about him is just "(Insert dumb shit here) Crazy, right?" or the same nonsense about how humans on Mars is right around the corner but has been for a decade now, with the new focus on the Moon instead lol.

Bummer since the companies he owns are absolute units, made up of teams that keep the company afloat by continuously doing what people deemed impossible or incredibly hard, and get met with layoffs while he gets the credit while casually tweeting a few hundred times a day about misinformation or trying to give another OF girl extra ad money so they respond to him in the replies.

Not super related, just dislike him and feel as if everything he says is just based off what I assume is a 5 second google search that is taken at face value lmao.

Random but I love how he continuously tries to make Grok not "woke" but in turn figures out that it's just considered woke because it quotes statistical information with clear evidence, and when he tried to turn it down and stop, it started calling itself mechahitler.

I miss old Twitter. Fuck you Elon.

That's true. I feel like he still has a few good ideas and vision. But most of them now have been pure BS. People ride him so hard on X