Thread: Best budget <150 hidden camera?

SIM-2502833 - February 22, 2026, 3:45 pm

Hi, I'm looking for a hidden camera with decent audio to take to a meeting I will be attending soon.

Anyone have suggestions for a camera that meets the following conditions:

Less than 150 USD

Easy to attach to my person and capture audio from a crowded public space (There will be someone with a microphone speaking, this is the audio I wish to capture)

Discrete; I will not be allowed to enter the facility if it is easily noticed, but it is not a high security area

Ok video for identifying individuals later on that I come into close contact with

Roughly 2-3 hours recording time

Thanks for your suggestions.

They have some pen cameras that are around $30 that work well. They look legitimate and have a slider to conceal the camera lens to avoid detection. You can find them on Amazon.

I've used those before, one was a wristwatch with a hidden camera and audio. There's also a pen with a hidden camera and audio. The price is cheap, but the video and audio quality are still very good. You can search for them on the internet under the name "Spy Cam."
