Thread: Guys please suggest me some real ways.

Hello Hackforums, today i am here posting this asking for a little help. Guys i am looking for some realistic ways to make money online. I have been active in adult niche but it's not gauranteed money these days and i end up losing a large percentage of money i make by using holders and such.

I don't have a huge goal and willing to put some time in learning the skills i'd need, my target is to make just $300/month. I know that any good and legit work can help me make that. I'm mostly looking for whitehat work but i am open to greyhat as well.

Thank you.

Well, my advice for the adult niche is to create and manage your own accounts so you can handle payouts yourself after saving some earnings from previous sales this way you stay in control of your money , there are people that sells open up banks/PayPal to use our there. Secondly, if you have the time, it's better to focus on improving your skills.

Buy low, sell high.

I used to flip digital codes. Purchase them cheap then sell them on eBay. Setup a bot to handle distributing the codes automatically for me. I put in maybe an hour a week reloading the codes and would profit an easy $1000/month as a side hustle.

Hey, Thanks for replying. Can you please tell me the kind of digital codes which sells the fastest and are most in demand?
