Thread: If you could send a message to your past self, what would you say?

R5N3T - February 27, 2026, 5:30 pm

Imagine you could send a short message to yourself a few years ago.
Not to change your destiny, just to give one important piece of advice.

If I could send a message to myself back in 2010, it would say:
"Hey R5N3T , buy as much Bitcoin as you can now and sell it in 2025."

Yeah, I think almost everyone would say the same thing lol.

Hard to beat the easiest way to turn $100 into $1,000,000.

I'd tell myself, "you're going to get over those breakups and you're going to make mistakes. Work on yourself."

Wow, that's a really wise piece of advice to yourself.

Past self ? Get into crypto AND model kit building/collecting asap.

Jamika - February 28, 2026, 12:13 am

I would tell myself not to fear the future—move forward and don't tie yourself to anyone. And I'd tell myself to leave the first company I worked for because they were fools.

Nice choice! Getting into crypto early could really help financially, and building model kits is a fun way to relax

Yeah, sometimes the hardest part is knowing when to walk away

Probably along the lines of

" HerrWinston first of all, buy as much btc as you can and sell in 2025, then short that shit to get extra rich, secondly, life is all about mistakes, learn from then and LEARN TO TAKE RISKS."

Hopefully my past self listens to me lol

Lol true, you need to have the courage to take risks to actually do it

Awesome bro, stay motivated! I'm sure you're not too late to become a streamer.

You are, even I was when I was streaming like 5 years ago now?

You're a tiny dot in an ocean of content.

Always hold on to it and do not let go easily such as my wallet containing 500+ bitcoins and never backed up from my ATA hdd from 2010s. Tried recovering it with some professionals beofre 2020s and did not manage to recover not a single thing way back not even a file. Everything was bad sectors. ?

OMG, I hope you can recover your wallet someday... and don't forget to share 1 BTC with me, okay?

It's already dead, we tried our best recovering it years ago and its totally damn dead. Already threw it away anyways since its totally unrecoverable. If it was then I would be happy to share a ton to the community without hesitation. ?

That's really unfortunate, bro... respect for trying though

Yeah totally and thanks. I hope for those still trying to recover funds, I wish the best for them to recover theirs. My case is already totally wasted now and unrecoverable.

I hope your experience can be a lesson for all of us, bro to be more careful when storing assets like Bitcoin and always keep proper backups to stay safe. Thanks again for sharing your experience

Hello there !

I would say : Stop interacting and you friendship with X,Y and Z !! stop smoking ! all will be fine later just trust the hustle and invest in the stocks you had a feeling about more instead of spending ..
Walk / Run at least 10-15 minutes daily , no excuse !

JoshAllen - February 28, 2026, 11:37 am

Invest your money, and don't stress about little things. Things get better.
