Thread: What's your favorite way to waste time?

Au Jus Demon - February 27, 2026, 5:31 pm

Lately I've been reading a lot of novels. Even when I have free time at work, I'll be on my phone reading a few chapters. Some of these stories have 2,000+ chapters, so there's always more to read.

Outside of that I'm almost always in a Discord call with friends, either talking or gaming. We recently got back into WoW TBC again for what feels like the fourth time.

At this point it's more about hanging out than the game itself.

What about you? What do you usually do when you're bored?

Nice one, bro! When I'm bored, I usually just hang out with a cup of coffee and a cigarette.

That sounds like a good way to relax. Everyone needs those quiet moments.

I'm like the weird chinese guy from Mr. Robot when it comes to time. I try not to waste a a single minute.

But saying that sometimes it happens... tick tock, gotta run

This question is an easy one. Building/collecting model kit

I usually watch Reels on TikTok or maybe play some silly games on my phone.

That's a solid hobby. It's nice just building something and seeing it come together.

Honestly same, it's way too easy to lose track of time just scrolling Reels. I have never really got into mobile games.

Actually, I play a lot... but when I feel bored or have to wait somewhere and can't focus, I play my kids' simple games, lol. At those times, I feel mentally backward, hahahaha.

Video games, YouTube, and movies. Also maybe music.

?inimalist - February 28, 2026, 1:57 pm

Playing some video games, watching some reels/tiktok and of course listening music all day.

Doom scrolling on Instagram or Facebook

My favorite way is playing video games. I prefer online games like WoW but I am not currently playing any because I haven't had a good computer until a week ago in a long time. I love MMORPG's and RPG's in general.

I am also into WoW again recently with the rerelease of TBC. We have a group of 7 friends playing.

I like following and watching sports. So that's one time wasting thing if that counts. But I like it.

Just playing League of Legends

I stopped playing League heavily around 2017. Since then I only get on every once in a while, and when I do it's usually just ARAM.
