Title explains it all, what is the goal your chasing currently? Money, love, a chill live or a big beach house somewhere?

For me its definitely learning and exploring the world, I have seen so little and I want to make money to visit every last corner of this planet!

What about you all ?

I really want to make my parents and my wife and child happy... but I need to have enough financial stability, and that's what keeps me motivated for their sake

To break into further into a Cyber Security carreer. Going okay atm so let's keep up the grind.
