

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is WW3 upon us? Or was it already?

P??sonl?af - February 28, 2026, 5:43 am

What do you guys think about current events?

In a way something like this has always been lurking around the corner but never spiraled out of control.

R5N3T - February 28, 2026, 5:58 am

Hopefully, there won't be any war at all if it can be avoided

DramaKing - February 28, 2026, 6:04 am

(Feb 28, 2026 06:58 AM)R5N3T Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hopefully, there won't be any war at all if it can be avoided

Check the news, bud.

Yanix - February 28, 2026, 6:05 am

I'm praying and hoping this war comes to an end soon. So many innocent people will suffer because of it.

R5N3T - February 28, 2026, 6:06 am

(Feb 28, 2026 07:04 AM)DramaKing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Check the news, bud.

Yeah, I know, mate... maybe it has already happened for the sake of peace

DramaKing - February 28, 2026, 6:06 am

The PRC will express their total disdain for any attack on Iranian sovereignty. Other than that, things should wind down by tomorrow.

Hackers - February 28, 2026, 6:07 am

Not surprised, the Olympics are over and markets closed so it was the first weekend for US & Israel to do it. There's always a thought that it's not cool to fight during the Olympics because the event brings countries together.

I hope it comes to an end soon, but I do not look at Israel and US as aggressors in this. Iran's regime has oppressed its people for decades and it has called for the deaths of Americans. It will end when Iran's government does not exist anymore.

It may look like we have struck first, but we have retaliated to bring peace and allow Iranian citizens the opportunity to take back their lives & freedom by toppling the inhumane Iranian regime.

If Iran makes the bad decision to retaliate and hurt American or Israeli citizens or soldiers, it is game over for them. They need to sit quietly while they are peace bombed.

JoshAllen - February 28, 2026, 11:39 am

I have no clue, but I really don't wish for war. There is never a winner.