CoD: Black Ops 7 Zombies Map Trailer Solves The Mystery Of This Missing Character

Season 2 Reloaded will add another round-based Zombies map to Call of Duty: Black Ops 7, and Treyarch has released the cinematic trailer ahead of launch. This map is called Paradox Junction, and it seems to finally address the missing character from a previous Zombies storyline. Following the events of Astra Malorum, the Black Ops 7's Zombies crew have left the floating rock in space, and are now warped to a version of the iconic Nuketown map. Treyarch's trailer only gives a very brief look at the map itself, but it features Nuketown's classic setup with the two houses facing each other and a bus at the center. Nuketown was previously featured as a Zombies map in Black Ops 2, and another version was featured in Treyarch's Alpha Omega map in Black Ops 4. It's unclear if this is going to be a direct remake of Nuketown Zombies or some other variant of the map. There will be no absolute resolution. See what happens next in the Dark Aether story. Instead of map details, the cinematic for Paradox Junction focuses on a lengthy monologue from the Warden, who serves as the main villain of Black Ops 7's storyline. The trailer shows him speaking to a woman in a cage. We don't get to see a clear look at her face, but the voice sounds like Ava Jansen, who was snatched from Liberty Falls in one of the final cutscenes for Modern Warfare 3 Zombies. Ava was pulled through a mirror and into the Dark Aether by a shadowy figure in a hat, which now seems to be revealed as the Warden in his cowboy hat. Continue Reading at GameSpot
