Update Draw A Winner Process Upgrade

Winner drawings are now handled through an automated HFTools system powered by the official Hack Forums API.

Contest hosts post their completed form in my Draw A Winner thread. The system automatically:

- Checks for new requests every night at 8:00 PM Eastern.
- Reads each request twice to ensure it has finished being edited.
- Validates the participant count, winner count, ordered entry list, and contest link.
- Confirms through the HF API that the requester owns the linked contest thread.
- Stops and requests manual review if anything conflicts or is unclear.
- Securely draws unique winners without replacement.
- Permanently locks the result so it cannot be rerolled.
- Generates a winner proof image.
- Publishes the authorized result through the HF API.
- Reads the published reply back and verifies it was posted correctly.
- Detects existing results and prevents duplicate replies.

I only have two manual checkpoints: reviewing and approving the submitted list, then authorizing the public result. Everything else is automated.

Required format

Code Participants: 5

No. of winners: 2

Participation list:

1. Username
2. Username
3. Username
4. Username
5. Username

Thread link: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1234567>

Important:

- Submit one contest per reply.
- Counts must exactly match the submitted list.
- Only list contestants who are still eligible.
- If prizes differ, explain their draw-order allocation in a note.
- Conflicting or unclear requests will be rejected instead of guessed.

The upgrade provides faster drawings, human oversight, no silent rerolls, duplicate-post protection, and a verifiable result for every contest.

How many contestants are in your contest?

How many winners will there be?

Please list all contestants in order by entry number:

Listing them all ? Isn't that too much ? I mean if by somehow they are +200 this will be huge list

I haven't seen any contests that had 200+ entries. I'm very busy and I don't have time to go through every contest thread and make a list myself to draw a winner so the contest holder is responsible for that.

Thank you Charlie for doing this for the community.

Thank you to the community too for letting me be a part of HF.

My message to you all:

Trust, loyalty, principles and purpose are everything.

Hold up!

No all good, I thought I made a mistake, two contestants nearly had the same name. All good.
