

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Real Talk

Mr. Undefined - March 5, 2026, 1:10 am

Hie Guys ,

Honestly, I've been thinking about this latel that technology keeps making life easier and more advanced like earlier we dont have internet , no mobile , no AI, but at the same time everything feels faster and more competitive. Do you think the future will actually make humans happier, or just more stressed while trying to keep up?

Share your opinion on this

??

aitbdx7 - March 5, 2026, 1:58 am

Good to see myself on the greens for once.

R5N3T - March 5, 2026, 4:58 am

I think technology can make life easier, It really depends on how we use it.

CrusadersX - March 5, 2026, 8:14 am

Technology will take away what made us human. A.i will take over many jobs. Btw there is such a thing called A.i governance. Yes it will take over the government because people in power cannot be trusted. Just watch

Phobia_ - March 6, 2026, 9:48 am

I think we will be calmer with age AI will take over most if not all jobs eventually. Thought in reality we won't have to do as much things ourself therefore it should equate to a lot more of a free thinking world

5chn4pp - March 6, 2026, 11:27 am

The AI Revolution and its consequences have been a disaster for the human race.

It has greatly increased the productivity of those who live in 'developed' countries, but it has destabilized society, has made life unfulfilling, has subjected human beings to indignities, has led to widespread psychological suffering (in the form of doomscrolling and algorithmic addiction), and has inflicted severe damage on the job market.

The continued development of artificial intelligence will certainly make things worse. It will subject people to ever greater irrelevance, it will inflict greater damage on human creativity, and it will lead to greater social disruption and psychological suffering — and it may lead to increased physical suffering as well, even in 'advanced' countries.

Hackers - March 6, 2026, 11:36 am

I think the answer is both. There will be pros & cons. Some people will not have an opportunity to feed their families, and some will. It has always been this way, but this is a dramatic change.

I have faith that the human race will be better off more than it is not.