Thread: Wtf, Perplexity Pro recommended I try to find legal LSD for Panic / Covid?

Rsynced - March 7, 2026, 9:20 am

Man, this AI showed me a new drug that I never knew existed. I was merely asking it for help with my anxiety, it knows I used LSD for improvement, but I was not even on this topic nor interested in doing more LSD. Not to mention this stuff seems sketchy as fuck... IDK

AI Quote:

Push: "Long COVID dysautonomia—hydroxyzine or buspirone per guidelines?"

LSD alternatives

Legal-ish / research:

Microdosing analogs (1P-LSD, 1cP-LSD): ~10-20ug, mimics LSD for anxiety/mood; "legal" gray area FL (unscheduled federally, but analog act risk if intent human use).

No, I mean there have been some clinical trials that show the benefit of psychedelics and its effect on the default mode network and the experiences that it can give you. I'm definitely a big proponent of psychedelics and the usefulness to treat many different ailments.

I'm just going based off assumption here since you're asking perplexity and doing research that you're trying to find solutions for anxiety. I know internal family systems and also CB T have really been shown to be useful. If you were looking more drug wise, ketamine trials is available in many different places, depending on where you are.

But that's AI for you. I'm shocked It recommended that. Hallucinations.

I do not freak out anymore, stopped taking xanax, lucky no bad withdrawals etc. I just get pain after having covid, I think I have the long covid as more research shows me the neck pain is #1 sign, it's like you kinda feel sick all the time but like your not sick. It is hard to explain but it has really effected my muscles.

I find it funny they make ketamine legal. (my guess musk) I was once addicted to that stuff, I knew some girl who used to get whole vials of it often back in the late 90's.

Ketamine is some bad shit... like pissing blood bad...

You know we all could just grow our own poppy for pain and the fent issue would not even exist. To bad it's illegal to grow Bread poppy and poppy drink tea smoke opium after work. lol

If you ever told the AI about LSD. It may have saved that topic to its memory to bring it up later in new answers.

I guess perplexity is just based on scientific and academic researches so it will always reference what the more clinically proven method would be. Still suggesting Drugs is crazy, must not understand the human's + addition issues aye, like with anything that's 'feel good'

I would say that this is actually a good assumption. I remember when it first came out it was tailored (and still is) to academics based on the way it spits the info out. It reads off that way to me at least and aided/aids me more with tasks related to uni.
