Hey there HF friends,

Have been here for quite a while and I like the vibe of the members.

I am into meme coins for some years now and would be happy to get to know new friends that are into memes and on HF :)

Hit me up

In my experience Im currently down in trading memecoins. The markets too unpredictable and its hard to tell which ones will actually fly and which ones will dump especially in the trenches.

Its a 50/50 gamble.

Well you need to be involved many years to understand and catch the first wave of a runner.

Usually hard to catch it because there are lots of coins that deploy once something goes viral and you wont know which one might be legit or not....

there are some strategies you can follow that will help you become profitable, but its tough tbh out there....

Lots of bundlers and market manipulation you need to be really cautious..

Too many low quality memes out there, so not a lot of money to be made unless you know what you're doing i guess.

All I know is to look for volume, and always check rug.yxz ?? But sometimes they are never right.

I know there are trenches, then trading normally. The biggest I've earned is a X12 but lost it all over time.

ooh I see well you need lots of experience to trade fresh coins and not get rugged and r..ped. I would just recommend to catch something really viral as early as possible. Dont trade daily and just wait for that meme coin that actually can do numbers.

Overtrading on meme coins and new pairs is what killed my port and made me learn the hard way
