

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: LEARNED TO 3D MODEL

StarTecko - March 10, 2026, 1:27 pm

After finally sometime in learned all the basics i need to model and can now model and even animate.

DramaKing - March 10, 2026, 1:33 pm

(Mar 10, 2026 01:27 PM)StarTecko Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) After finally sometime in learned all the basics i need to model and can now model and even animate.

I got my B.S. in animation with a specialization in visual effects. After a couple of years, I realized that it was getting me nowhere. I've basically abandoned 3D graphics now.

Charlie Sheen - March 10, 2026, 4:56 pm

Now start building 3D printables and make a patreon.

Saterax - March 20, 2026, 11:30 pm

Here to randomly add;

Hell yeah! It can be kinda niche sometimes, but it never hurts to learn something new. For a project I was doing in UE5 I had to basically re-learn blender from the ground up to make something that just straight up didn't have a free model already released, I forget how complicated it can be.

For your modeling and such, did you mean Blender as well, or did you mean something more technical, such as CAD? Equally as fun either way.

The Pact - March 21, 2026, 8:38 pm

(Mar 10, 2026 01:33 PM)DramaKing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I got my B.S. in animation with a specialization in visual effects. After a couple of years, I realized that it was getting me nowhere. I've basically abandoned 3D graphics now.

Don't abandon you talents. I abandoned two of mine. My boyfriend abandoned his. We both regret it. Nowadays there is a lot you can do on your own. You don't necessarily have to get a job doing it anymore.

Nilbog - April 22, 2026, 7:47 am

(Mar 10, 2026 01:27 PM)StarTecko Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) After finally sometime in learned all the basics i need to model and can now model and even animate.

Did you learn how to make a 3D Donut in Blender?

I feel like that's the right of passage learning 3D lol