

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: major international businesses in dubai exit scamming

zeezoo_al - March 13, 2026, 3:36 pm theluxurycloset, on the front it looks reputable on the first impression, but they own nothing, i consigned 50+ items worth almost 10k aed+ they deemed it some bullshit reason, or lied about being inauthentic, "destroyed" to remove trace, then resell to Inspiration Commerce Group <https://www.inspo.group/companies>

in essence

imagine ur a miner who puts in day and night to mine diamonds, to which after all the effort and energy, you consign to a company in dubai because ur broke country has no market. then that company using blatant loop holes and uae to protect its crime, takes all 50, lies about 1/3 of being fake (high end), then other bs reason for the 1/3 that is used as a display for brand image and locks in for 356 days, then 1/3 that actually sells. and finnaly top it off take all the things that actually sell, charge a 35% commision, whilst 1/3 laundered to eu markets to sell at a rate x3 then the dubai market with no issues.

the more you dig, the more blatant it seems.
officially no ties exist between TLC and ICG, for obvious reasons, TLC was a planted machine to rob the middle east, but these retards leaked themselves by posting a job on indeed for a TLC requirement, under the ICG company.

<https://ae.indeed.com/q-inspiration-comm...5b5604f44a> furthermore, <https://www.mybestbrands.de/> and theluxurycloset.com

have the same exact theme, or web template to blatantly steal from the public by taking advantage from a autocratic state. the people in the uae, can not speak out against authorities, it does not matter right or wrong. you accept ur fate. [warn]