

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I love staying at home 24 by 7

inceptor - March 15, 2026, 7:28 am

Is there anyone else who love staying indoors all the time? Or am I the only weird one

SIM-4331310 - March 15, 2026, 7:37 am

I honestly prefer it as to being around people

Trapback - March 15, 2026, 8:07 am

Get some some sunlight bro staying in doors all day bad for your mental health

Setauket - March 15, 2026, 8:39 am

I try to spend a few hours outside each day, weather permitting. It's good for the soul. Humankind was born outdoors, and it's in the outdoors that we remember who we are as individuals and as a people.

Freemasons - March 15, 2026, 8:39 am

(Mar 15, 2026 07:28 AM)inceptor Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there anyone else who love staying indoors all the time? Or am I the only weird one

You are killing yourself, the body is not meant to be stationary.

Rahul007rhp - March 15, 2026, 9:10 am

I have this weird issue like when Im at home, I wanna go outdoor & when Im outdoor I miss home

Deany - March 15, 2026, 10:54 am

Yes, me too. I don't like going out. Staying inside is the best.

ByteMe - March 15, 2026, 11:29 am

Depending on the days but I like to go out cause of my job.

Phantom_NiNja - March 15, 2026, 12:41 pm

(Mar 15, 2026 07:28 AM)inceptor Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there anyone else who love staying indoors all the time? Or am I the only weird one

I am like that too but there's times I do miss going out and taking walks and just looking at buildings and the streets.

Watching traffic. I used to play a computer game called simcity. So, I admire how buildings look and how lots are designed.

I always love watchin city planning and how they do massive projects like building a new bridge.

I can stay indoors and do like it but there's times where when it's warm out I have an urge to touch grass and just look at the city that I am in and just enjoy mother nature and how the city is designed.

There's times where I look out my window and watch storms roll in and enjoy just watching it rain and storm. I also like watching the local news and the weather. I always liked it as a kid. My dad gave me the habit. We would always before going to bed sit at the tv and watch local news.

This was back in the 90s. Today we still do this but now it's not like we come together and watch. It's more we look online and then before going to bed we drink either green tea or black tea and just talk about current events and just life.

(Mar 15, 2026 07:28 AM)inceptor Wrote: CITE Is there anyone else who love staying indoors all the time? Or am I the only weird one

What do you mean all the time? For me I don't mind doing either but most of my life was staying indoors.

I mean to me if I had a choice meaning if money wasn't an issue I would rather be outside doing stuff or doing projects physically like running fiber optics thru the house and buying a house fixing it up yourself and then renting it out.

I would love to do stuff like that and also go out and take walks around the park. The issue is the money and time.

so, for me I don't mind being indoors or out doors but I feel for me right now I been indoors most of my life and need a break.

I need to just go out and enjoy mother nature and the city.

I highly doubt you staying indoors all the time and love it. There's going to be a point in time where you just want to go out and smell the grass and plants and just look at traffic drive by. That's just from me and my experience.

IDK - March 15, 2026, 2:14 pm

I also feel more comfortable at home

Sodan42 - March 15, 2026, 11:43 pm

Funny thread title. Are you a stay at home mom, lol? ?

Even prisoners are allowed to have a daily hour outdoors for health reasons. I like going to the gym and taking walks.

But I also think it's cozy in the fall when it gets dark early.

RatWarGun - March 16, 2026, 1:53 am

I love my computer, but I'll admit that sometimes I'd love to see some sunlight