Thread: Spring Sale Steam 2026

Current Steam Spring Sale ends in close to 6 days!

What have you all gotten or are thinking about buying in this one?

I have to say its crazy to me how Steam always has these insane sales. And that every other week aswell.

A link to the sale can be found on the bottom of the thread.

Top List of potential things I found interesting:

Name: Percentage:	Original Price	Current Price
Fallout: New Vegas -90%	10€	0.99€
Remnant From the Ashes -90%	39.99€	3.99€
Star Wars Jedi: Survivor -90%	69.99€	6.99€
Sekiro Shadows die twice -50%	59.99€	29.99€
Spacemarine 2 -67%	59.99€	19.79€

These are the ones I am most interested in, I am thinking about buying Fallout: New Vegas because its a very good game and for this cheap it feels like a steal.

I am interested in everyones opinion on this! :D

i grabbed remnant from the ashes last sale, played it co-op with a buddy and it was a blast. new vegas is solid too, def worth it at that price.

Sucks that Black Ops is still overpriced to hell. I think they don't want to make it cheap because people will buy it en masse and remember that CoD campaigns can be good. No reason a 15 year old game like Bo2 should still be like $30(?) or w/e.

Nice to see New Vegas being slashed so far, hard to beat a solid game for a dollar.

remnant from the ashes is the game I am most interested in for the price and maybe I can convince a friend of mine to buy it aswell for the coop experience, how much playtime is it?

Yeah absolutely, the price of New Vegas is too cheap not to take it, and your right, the old games shouldnt be overpriced like this, I mean they could slash way more money out of it when they put it on sale, enough people would buy it to make it worth for the company, who knows. :(

Highly recommend Ready or Not if you don't have it already. Great mods to help clean up what the devs haven't gotten to yet, and great gameplay/gunplay.

I didn't know it was spring already to steam so gunna check out the sales more right now thank ya

I picked up a couple of games during this sale, but unfortunately when it came to the summer sale which had way more and some better deals.. I kept putting off buying the 10 or so games I had sitting in my cart and then I got the final day of the sale mixed up with what I thought was a later one. Needless to say I missed out on the deals for all of those games lol. Not the end of the world as honestly I know full well I wouldn't have touched most of them for a while, but it still would have been nice to be able to take advantage of the great deals they had. My own fault though. Luckily, most of those deals will likely occur again for the next big Steam sale, some maybe even a bit better.

Yeah I get that, I bought 3 games on the summer sale and have only touched one for 30 minutes yet.... but I knew this would happen, the games are just so good I couldn't miss out on the opportunity xD

I didn't get any during the spring sale but....

I got 5 games and 2 DLC during the summer sale lol. One was Halo which is unlocked now and the other was Dawn Of War 4 which unlocks in September. My cock is so hard for that game.....

I always splurge during the sales....

I am so hyped for dawn of war 4, but I won't buy it until I have seen some gameplay, I have a rule to never buy games if they're not launched, got disappointed too often x)
