Nice offer. I am interested but do I need to register on the site first?

Lyrlei - April 2, 2026, 1:08 am

I sent a private message. I wanted to try since I might need one of these soon but with more space.

No need to register, just forward me a username of your choice and an email if you wish to recover your account incase you forget the password of your account and a domain name which will be used as the default domain *it can be changed later on or extra domains can be added on top the default domain.

Responded to you. If you don't have a domain you can use Namecheap to register a cheap $1 domain, or we can register you a domain at a discount price of 1000 Bytes
