I'm guessing people are thinking he's Satoshi Nakamoto just because he invented Hashcash in 1997 and their writing styles.

I still think Hal Finney is Satoshi himself. Who thinks otherwise?

Can't be Hal. It's that Dorian dude. The only reason everyone won't say he's Satoshi is because he'll sue you and CIA/Mossad will hunt you down.

Meh, I really don't care who it is.

There are way too many speculations on this one.

People have even said it was Epstein lol

Think it'd be a lot cooler if it was just some dude that nobody had ever heard of before, totally off the radar. Dorian fit that description, but I have my doubts that it's him.

Ultimately, I care more about laughing at Craig Wright not being Satoshi than I do figuring out who Satoshi actually is.

Is there a chance that Satoshi Nakamoto is dead ?

All Craig is trying to do is claim the trademarks and copyrights of Bitcoin. I can't imagine if he somehow won and every company who used the Bitcoin logo, or license, to pay up, or face a lawsuit. He lost the UK case over this, and probably paying up for the damages he caused

Source: absolutely and literally nothing.

Who's to say it was even one person? It'd be impressive if it was.

He exists on this account now: <https://x.com/CsTominaga>

I enjoy the new neutered Craig. He so badly wants to lash out at people and make big claims, but he knows he can't or he'll be fined and/or jailed for it.

I don't think it really matters who Satoshi is at this point. It would probably make sense for it to involve Hal Finney though, his inactivity coincides with his horrible illness he was diagnosed with.
