Thread: My friend is friends with an Indian billionaire.

Hello guys, my friend and my school mate is friends with an Indian billionaire whose name came in Forbes this year. He has a net worth of $1 billion and is very young, I'm not sharing his name for privacy purposes but my friend flies in private jet with him. I have not been much in contact with my friend but I see his status on WhatsApp whenever he posts.

I was wondering if he would be of any help to me like if I try getting some help as I'm struggling financially!

Focus on the "friend" as a bridge to a job or a network, rather than a source of "help." Wealthy people are far more likely to invest in a person's potential than to give a handout.

A job in his company will not affect his life hard
