update 4/26/2026 - still no problems, no outages, highly recommend

i've been with fizz for a while now and i feel like i should've shared this sooner instead of keeping it to myself.

if you're on hackfourms or like that kind of setup, you'll like fizz plans.
they have a level system, perks, and small rewards that make your plan feel worth it.

what stood out to me is how simple it is.
the plans are cheap and they stay that way.
no random price jumps. i'm on the $25 cad 4g plan and after tax i pay under $27 cad.
i haven't had any issues with service and 4g has been more than enough for everyday use.

one thing i haven't seen anywhere else is the data feature.
if you don't use all your data, you can send it to friends.
it actually ends up helping lower your bill over time.

switching was easy too. you can transfer your number and there's no extra cost to move over.

if you're trying to cut down your phone bill but still want something reliable, i'd at least check it out.

if you do sign up, you can use my code 5B5WM to get $40 cad or $25 cad credit depending on where you are.
it gives you a bonus and helps me out a bit too.

My only concern is it doesn't seem to have the greatest coverage map unless in urban areas.

yes you can, you can transfer your number from bell to fizz, easily.
try it out on the website, it should automatically cancel your services to bell as well.
