Thread: Your Best 5 Coins To Invest In

Edmond Dantes - April 19, 2026, 2:58 am

What are your top 5 coins to invest in?

Here is list of mine:

- Bitcoin
- Litecoin
- Solana
- SUI
- HYPE

casperr - April 19, 2026, 6:50 am

Nice picks. Mine are: Bitcoin, Ethereum, Solana, Chainlink, and Arbitrum.

Solid list there sir :)

I like your list, but I'd sub out Litecoin for something a bit more exciting.

A few friends of mine are launching Rialo in the upcoming months. I have my eye on a few new chains in 2026, but Rialo is what I'm placing my bet on.

I would love to learn more about Rialo if possible. Don't mind adding 6th coin to the list.

Also I buy LTC because I can easily see it getting $100+ so any price I can get it for right now is good deal for me

Yin Yang - April 20, 2026, 7:38 am

Btc, sui, sol and link are my 4

None . I think crypto had it's hay day . AI stocks and others have taken over. Crypto never really had adoption and most regular people think it's a scam or got fucked raped by the dips. better off flushing ur cash

I've been in crypto for over 12 years and made millions which I lost on Stake :)

What i'm saying is the majority is down on crypto . it's not like it was . the days of getting rich off it are done. unless you hold 20 years and hope AI doesn't fuck it lol

Could of just held SNP or any tech stock and done 10x better lol

I think meme coins and gimmicks are ending. The whole moon phase is done. Hopefully market returns to sensibility and actual long-term holding and investment.

Clowns thinking they'll 100x in less than a year are broke boys now. Those who held and hold Bitcoin are just relaxing.

Edmond Dantes list isn't half-bad. I'd get XMR in there though. Proven use case. Even in this sideways market it's holding strong.

I will trust your opinion on that one and add XMR to the list. I like to hold most of my money in Bitcoin and put small % in alt coins.

Omniscient - April 26, 2026, 9:36 am

XMR up 8% today.

It's one of the few top cryptos which still makes moves positively like that. A good sign that the demand and use is there.

It's interesting rise, taking on mind most of the big coins haven't moved at all today.

Marvelous - April 26, 2026, 11:47 am

There should be 2 different lists minimum. At least high risk high reward and low risk low reward.

Mine is high risk high reward.

ETH
BTC

Regular people got scammed by the lack of regulation which caused EXTREME amounts of scams. Personally I think it was allowed to happen so that people get rekt and leave so that big institutions can get in.. People under estimate how slow the government moves, just imagine how slow the financial infrastructure will move to upgrade.

Please do your research and see what major institutions are doing before you assume its GG. Major things are happening that are barely talked about on purpose. Imagine if Trump and the FED had a press conference and said that EVERYTHING it moving onto ET or SOL? Retarded.

You bought the top of the current cycle.

You bought Cardano after 2021.

You tried to salvage your Cardano position by buying more.

You made every boneheaded play imaginable in your situation, you rewrote the definition of what an emotional trader is, and now you're blaming the industry for your bad decisions.

The industry is fine, it's thriving. This is the most active bear market in crypto's history, builders haven't stopped building, institutions haven't stopped buying, there's a ton of momentum that we've never seen before. Yet you're trying to convince us that there's no adoption and that the world thinks crypto is a scam? Where the fuck are you getting your knowledge from, and is it the same place that convinced you Cardano is a good buy?

The only people who are down are retail investors who make uninformed decisions (buying cardano) at times of peak hype (buying the local top).

I've never been more well off in my life before, and this entirely due to crypto. Crypto has unlocked a near endless amount of possibility for me, and I'm building every single day so as the next cycle begins, I compound on what I have and grow it even more.

The doom and gloom "whoa is me, i made bad decisions so the industry is a scam" narrative is exhausting and shows how short minded you are.

There are so many different opinions here, I love it !

SIM-5296365 - April 27, 2026, 12:02 am

btc eth xmr sol ton

did you know you get like 25% apy staking ton atm?

I was not aware of that, where can you get it?

Also isn't TON price quite unstable, it's too far from the ATH. The only use of TON I know is for Fragment usernames.

well it's surpassed eth in NFT trading volume recently my personal opinion is that it's severely under-priced right now, with a lot of upside with the huge utility they have to offer.

I might grab some and start staking it. 25% APY sounds really good, I could hold for a while.

Ton and TRX been my saviours... still of the belief that this is a fake pump for crypto in general as a whole and predicting some big lows later this year

Only time will show brother

OllyDbg - May 8, 2026, 10:03 am long run these are my only picks so far

XMR - constant organic trade volume because of real privacy
ETH - lots of stuff being built on top

Mastercarder - May 9, 2026, 2:28 pm

Mine would probably be:

- BTC (still the safest long-term)
- SOL (ecosystem keeps growing)
- LINK (still one of the strongest utility plays)
- SUI (good upside if adoption keeps increasing)
- ETH (hard to ignore even with all the competition)

Trying not to chase every new meme/meta coin now tbh. Most people make more holding strong projects than rotating into 20 "next big things".
