Thread: Was offline - The Bytes Contest was paid away by JA \(And the 3000 Bytes Purchase was\)

Nick Elite - April 19, 2026, 3:53 am

Had a very bad week, I updated two of the HF members over telegram, couldn't access my desktop, my GPU got the best of it. Had a very bad electrical seizure at my apartment, HF wasn't logged in my phone therefore couldn't come online.

First of all, I thank JA for giving out the Bytes.

As for all the Neg Feedbacks I received, atleast old members should have the idea that someone paying out bytes in convo and gambling won't be scamming for few thousand bytes, plus it was a second small deal of 3000 Bytes, I purchased 15K bytes off him two days prior of the second deal.

Something happened therefore was offline, as along the line, JA said me that some thought that I ran away with the bytes, seriously, why would I? How much money will I get running off with the bytes, plus I didn't even sell those but lost 60K+ on flip.

Whatever the reason, but really funny how I went from 400+ to 250 just in 3-4 days of being offline, whereas I have seen users scamming thousands and having then given weeks and weeks of time because they owned groups, had good badges and what not.

Also for just few thousand bytes, loosing the brotherhood title, well, I was welcomed, I was removed, nothing much to say here.

Anyways, no hard feelings to anyone, would really love if you guys understood what I said and remove the negs, JA told that some of you thought I exit scammed for 7.2K bytes, but well I understand that, but part of it was also in giveaway and I only had a deal off 3k plus the Hosting accounts and the site was up so should had given the hint that was offline for a few days.

Thanks for the two nice members to come forward and help this out.

Got JA's address, will send him the LTC at the rate. Out of 10, there are atleast a few who are not too fast to judge.

Good morning. ?

I am really glad to see you back, in public convo we had a rather long talk where many said you scamming for 3k was highly unlikely but I had negged you because the chance was still there you know, which i removed from you tho, I am sure you will get back into brotherhood my friend, I would be glad to see you in convo soon again :) Hope the situation in your real life has solved itself and that the elctronical problems are gone aswell now.

THE RULER - April 19, 2026, 4:00 am

You had access to HF and cried about gambling them away 2 days after the transaction/ghosting when payment is required.

You're a halfwit if you think anyone is eating up your slop.

Your rating taking a hit is fully valid, glad you had a moment to reflect on how incredibly stupid you actually are, don't preach this holier than thou retarded shit though, no one will believe you.

You must be equally fucking dense.

Lost everything at Bytes, shit crap game got rolled and rigged again, made me loose everything. Damn! Not coming back for another 1 year, months of finding the way in and fixed in just a week. Waste of money.

LMFAO yeah "electronical problems" must have caused this. Holy shit, buddy is sped.

Well basically I brought more bytes, and was about to buy more to pay out, do you think 5-10 dollars are so much important to me, at this age? Just my account age itself says everything, and if I can't earn a 10 everyday, then I would be less then being a homeless.

Just wanted to throw out some dedi's and clouds as I leased two co-locations, but just so everyone knows, I have a GPU and a CPU which has no internal GPU to come in online, and I think staff can easily see which device I use to login. Not a single day came where I was using HF off my phone.

But well, a halfwit is a halfwit, I don't want anyone to eat up my slop. My soup is paid for my JA, the only one I am in-debt to, rest of the world can suck off or puff their blunts and I still won't give a F.

Just wanted to give out the explanation as JA said that I should give out an explanation because some thought I was scamming for $6-$10

Thanks for having a little trust. Well it was just an old building, old plugs caught fire, the owner didn't wanted to claim insurance, we few tenants had to fight, I lost abit, these pc compo's are not covered into these insurance, if the whole appliance gets busted, maybe I had a chance, mine was assembled so I didn't.

Anyway, sold it for scrape for $35, maybe the boy will SE or some crap it, idk, evangelist ftw.

But thanks again.

LMFAO yeah "electronical problems" must have caused this. Holy shit, buddy is sped. Well just think about it for a solid moment, in what universe would someone scam for 3k bytes? thats max 6$ and he had way higher transactions already, he had enough rep to scam for bigger stuff anyway, there is no reason for him to scam for this low, think logical. Yes I still dont fully trust this, there are things that are weird here but it just doesnt make sense to me. But thanks for your input.

Atleast you thought it straight. Also, funny how I find this old feature annoying - ignore list. He is just butt-hurt, negs me, thinks I will neg him back, so puts me into his ignore list. ? Leave him at be, I will swallow his pride in a whole throwing out some dollars out soon.

Hey man, what a shitty week indeed. Glad you're patching up stuff.

I wouldn't pay attention to the negging and judgement you receive when you know you're good. You should never, especially not a forum filled with you know who. Doing so makes you attract those type of people even more. Same with groups, it's a teenagers culture thing or something.

For reference: People have added me to their groups because of me being real then the same kind of people have removed me for being real. Happens on loop, even with the same leaders removing me and adding me multiple times ?.

The majority is sensitive to genuine social interactions and they'll happily project that in any possible way, so you having a bad week is pure gold for types like that so they can get their weekly dose of HF Degenerate Drama.

you are working on paying back JA from what i read, and people still being weirdos to you.

dont waste time with the teenagers here.

Edmond Dantes - April 19, 2026, 5:59 am

Glad to see you are back dude, and I felt sad about people judging you so quick. Was nice to see this guy stepping up for you, he is a true friend of yours !

It's unfortunate what events unrolled for you. I wish you better luck next time. In life as well as in rolling bytes.

We had prior dealing and I acknowledge it. Though after not sending the bytes to your 4.2K winner and me the LTC for 3K bytes for a week. Disappearing after gambling it all and stating in your last post that you had to bounce and then you disappearing after. Every rational man would've disputed the active deals. That's what I did

It was nice of JoshAllen to have your back like that and him paying off your bytes debt for the moment. JA, I would like to know if Nick has paid you off for those bytes yet.

If he has. Then all well that ends well. I wouldn't mind asking folks here to change their negative rep on your profile and I would be willing to request The Brotherhood to take you back as well.

No payment yet.

Sent LTC to JA, he will update once he is online. Will close this thread once he update.

He paid me back $10 in LTC. I am done in the situation. Nick needs to learn to fulfil his obligations and take accountability.

I agree with you, I am again sorry for all the drama which got created over - because of my mess. Not head high - I can stand, but I am still thankful for you, as being a responsible person, you did what you had to. Thankyou!
