

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Your favourite book ?

Edmond Dantes - May 3, 2026, 9:59 am

Do you guys like to read ?

My favourite book is the Count Of Monte Cristo.

I want to read some good self improvement books, if anyone would recommend me any :)

G Reviews - May 3, 2026, 10:21 am

Count of Monte Cristo is a classic—great pick! If you're looking for self-improvement, I'd suggest "Atomic Habits" by James Clear for practical habit-building, "Deep Work" by Cal Newport to boost focus, and "The Power of Now" by Eckhart Tolle if you want a more philosophical angle. Any particular area you're trying to improve—productivity, mindset, or something else?

Edmond Dantes - May 3, 2026, 10:49 am

(May 3, 2026 10:21 AM)G Reviews Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Count of Monte Cristo is a classic—great pick! If you're looking for self-improvement, I'd suggest "Atomic Habits" by James Clear for practical habit-building, "Deep Work" by Cal Newport to boost focus, and "The Power of Now" by Eckhart Tolle if you want a more philosophical angle. Any particular area you're trying to improve—productivity, mindset, or something else?

Productivity mostly but mindset is fine too. I will take a look at those, really appreciate you for sharing them with me :)

athali - May 3, 2026, 1:07 pm

start with the BIBLE for your soul

peldon - May 3, 2026, 1:09 pm

For me, « The Whisperer » by Donato Carrisi

Edmond Dantes - May 3, 2026, 9:57 pm

(May 3, 2026 01:09 PM)peldon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For me, « The Whisperer » by Donato Carrisi Sounds like an interesting thriller book. Just checked on it :)

RangoWorld - May 4, 2026, 1:29 am

Meditations by Marcus Aurelius. It's one of the best books and self improvement philosophy books I've read.

Edmond Dantes - May 4, 2026, 2:01 am

(May 4, 2026 01:29 AM)RangoWorld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Meditations by Marcus Aurelius. It's one of the best books and self improvement philosophy books I've read.

Friend of mine was reading it and said that it's literally amazing.

Sift - May 4, 2026, 2:53 pm

I cant read books I tummy ache when I read books.

Yakless - May 4, 2026, 6:19 pm

My current favorites are thinking fast and slow and how to win friends and influence people.

Edmond Dantes - May 4, 2026, 9:41 pm

(May 4, 2026 02:53 PM)Sift Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I cant read books I tummy ache when I read books.I was the same, but I overcame it. The only issue I got is I get really sleepy when I read books.

(May 4, 2026 06:19 PM)Yakless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My current favorites are thinking fast and slow and how to win friends and influence people.

These sound interesting, I will check them out.

RangoWorld - May 5, 2026, 11:35 pm

(May 4, 2026 06:19 PM)Yakless Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My current favorites are thinking fast and slow and how to win friends and influence people.

I have read Thinking Fast and Slow. Great book. I read it some years ago and back then it really felt difficult to read and understand its concepts but it's a great book when it comes to behavioral psychology. Perhaps the most important book. Sadly the author passed away recently.

I see How to win friends and influence people recommended a lot. I will need to check that one out.

critik0ner - May 6, 2026, 2:54 am

My favorite book is uzumaki very good book Japanese

Edmond Dantes - May 6, 2026, 4:04 am

(May 6, 2026 02:54 AM)critik0ner Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My favorite book is uzumaki very good book Japanese

Can you share what it's about ?

critik0ner - May 6, 2026, 8:33 am

(May 6, 2026 04:04 AM)Edmond Dantes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you share what it's about ?

Uzumaki is a chilling horror manga that explores the concept of spirals and the nightmarish effects they have on the residents of the small Japanese town of Kurouzu-Cho

Watch the movie also it is insane stuff