Thread: A Mothers Day Message to the Amazing Mothers in Our Lives

Yanix - May 9, 2026, 12:58 am

With Mother's Day just around the corner, it's the perfect time to pause and appreciate the incredible women who fill our lives with love, care and endless sacrifices. Whether it's your mother, your wife, your sister, or any mother figure who means so much to you, they all deserve to feel special and celebrated.

We often get caught up with life and forget to express how much they truly mean to us. Mother's Day is a beautiful reminder to let them know how thankful we are for all their patience, strength and unconditional love.

So if you had the chance, what would you want to say to your mother, wife, sister, or every mother that is dear to you? And aside from your message, what will be your present for them this Mother's Day or do you have any special surprise planned?

To all the amazing mothers out there, thank you for everything you do, even the little things that often go unnoticed. You are appreciated today and every single day. Have a wonderful Mother's Day and God bless.?

Mothers day was a little while ago here in the UK, however my mother passed away 10 years ago when I was pretty young still, 21.

I miss being able to give her a cuddle, talk or even hear her voice.

So everyone, if you can take advantage of it.

I'm really sorry to hear that. Losing your mother that young must have been incredibly hard and your words are a strong reminder for all of us to cherish those moments while we still can.

Oh yea, people say with time it gets easier, I don't believe so, I think you just learn to accept it and live with that pain.

I just wish she was still around to see her Grandson who is 9months old, but sadly not.

That's very true brother, some losses never get easier, we just slowly learn to accept them and it's something you carry with you forever. I'm sure she would've loved every moment with her grandson and been so proud of you.

My mother got diagnosed with ovarian cancer stage 2b back in march, currently on kemos and those are going pretty well. I wish best of health to all the mothers, smooth recovery to all suffering from diseases and ease the feeling of loss to the loved ones of those who have already departed. Never had I thought I would reach an age where I would mother my own mother, time flies by pretty quickly.

This is so beautifully said. ? We really don't say "thank you" enough to the women who do so much for us every single day. Mothers give so much love, care, strength, and support without ever asking for anything in return.

If I could say something to my mom and every amazing mother out there, it would simply be: thank you for all the sacrifices, the prayers, the late nights, the patience, and the unconditional love. So much of what mothers do often goes unnoticed, but it never goes unappreciated. ?

For Mother's Day, I think the best gift is making them feel loved and valued — whether it's quality time, a thoughtful surprise, flowers, or even just heartfelt words. Sometimes the little things mean the most.

Happy Mother's Day to all the wonderful moms out there. May God continue to bless you with happiness, strength, and love. ?

Brother that's really touching and I'm glad to hear her treatments are going well so far. Wishing your mother continued strength and recovery and you're right, time moves fast, sometimes before we even realize we've become the ones caring for the people who once cared for us.

Happy Mother's Day everyone. I believe we should celebrate and act it's mothers day every day. I love my Mom very much. :)

Oh yeah, sometimes the simplest gestures and heartfelt words mean more than any gift and mothers truly deserve to feel appreciated for everything they do.

About to take a shower and then drive to my mum to surprise her. My brother and I got her a handful of cute meaningful gifts.

Nice one brother, really thoughtful! I'm sure she'll be so happy and touched by the surprise. Moments like that are what make Mother's Day extra special.

But I'm certain she'll be more happy about the time spent together rather than the actual gifts :)

Yep, I couldn't agree more. The gifts are truly lovely, but the time spent together and the effort behind it will mean the most to her.

Enjoy your day with your Mom. Keep safe and God bless.

Too bad I was quite lethargic today so I wasn't at her place for very long before going back, but at least I pushed through.

Thank you for such a heartfelt message. It's true Mother's Day is a special chance to remind the incredible women in our lives just how much they mean to us. This Mother's Day, I spend quality time with my wife, mother and sisters sharing a meal and giving a thoughtful gift that reflects their passions and interests. Sometimes the best present is simply being present. Wishing all mothers a day filled with love, joy, and the recognition you deserve. You are truly appreciated today and always.

Thanks mum for giving me birth and saving my life when I lost hope for living <3

Yin Yang - May 11, 2026, 8:17 am

Celebrating it today instead. Should be a good dinner

A mother's love and strength can truly change everything and she must be so proud to know how much she means to you.?

Thanks. They both actually remembered this year! Well the younger one always remembers but the older one never used to.

Wow bro I thought I was reading a post made by me.... You 10000% described what my mother went through and how I felt. My mother had ovarian cancer too and she did all the chemo and radiation etc. but unfortunately I lost her and my life hasn't been the same since. I wish her the absolute best..ovarian cancer is the worst. If I can help you or your mother in anyway please do let me know???
