

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Y'all aren't ready & it shows

Hackers - May 12, 2026, 12:21 pm

You're not ready to understand that your government has hidden scientific breakthroughs or observations from you & your neighbors.

You aren't ready to accept that there is technology that is categorically superior to all forms of propulsion, energy generation, and how we handle g-forces/gravity and publicly acknowledged physical restraints (or lack thereof).

You certainly aren't ready for the psyops that comes along with hard truths, where evidence can be accepted and acknowledged as true, but your leaders and influencers will aim to manipulate these truths into something they're not.

You certainly aren't ready if you think any of this is guaranteed to be related to aliens. or gods, or on the flipside, solely related to human inventions. Only a few people are narrowing down into one agenda/thought process and it's incorrect. Regardless of source, you are likely not ready for the hard truth that at least 75 years of human scientific progress has been artificially delayed, hidden, and halted. The truth is that there are a myriad of sources and reasons for what's known & coming, and the sooner people stop trying to categorize experiences as only 1 source, or even worst, claiming it's either all true or all false... The better. There is bullshit, and there is truth - they are mixed together, and some people claim bullshit is true, but even more dangerously there are those who are and will continue to manipulate truth with bullshit to further obfuscate it.

If you think any of this sounds crazy, you are likely not ready for what's coming, and you should rethink it.

Don't forget to look up. I have no hesitation in looking like the crazy guy because the alternative, to be blind to what's coming is both insane and negligent.

I feel comfortable saying that people who are unwilling to research or be open-minded are crazy. My family, my friends, myself, and thousands of others have had experiences. We constantly face ridicule from people online who may ask if we are or were high, or if we're crazy, or if we're lying. That's offensive, but we can't pay it no mind.

If you are one of the people who think I come across as crazy, I wish you would understand that my only intent is to introduce people here to the topic because we saw near-indescribable aerial phenomenon on a number of occasions and there are literally thousands of other reports just like ours. So the thought that we're all just crazy, making it up, or it's a psyops is quite literally laughable.

You may just find that the only crazy people are the ones who deny a relatively easy-to-prove phenomenon. Take careful note of who replies to this thread or my others bringing up random topics like "aliens" because this is not about that. It's a phenomenon that's real, and it doesn't matter who, what, where, or why - if communities continue to stonewall the topic and pretend it's not even real to begin with, what hope do we have? It starts with an acknowledgement that there are aerial phenomenon/craft/objects/etc that are evidently superior to most (or all) public programs, militaries, etc.

You'll all see, that I do know. My only hope is that some of you begin to understand this universal truth sooner, and if that makes me look crazy, then that's fine because this thread will be reflected on as a normal in the future.

Don't forget to look up. You might very well have a chance at having your own experience & understanding before your media companies tell you what to think - and they will. Be wary of anyone who tells you exactly what to believe, but similarly, ignore anyone who tells you the phenomenon isn't real for they are either lying or simply misinformed.

~ Sincerely, Nodes / Hackers ~

Sift - May 12, 2026, 12:24 pm

And if you think there aren't more intelligent species than humans in the universe you're delusional.

Hackers - May 12, 2026, 3:15 pm

(May 12, 2026 12:24 PM)Sift Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And if you think there aren't more intelligent species than humans in the universe you're delusional.

I agree with that too. Not focused on it in this thread per-se because I think people get too caught up in it.

My stance is that we don't know the true source of the phenomenon, and it could be terrestrial, normal, or modern, or it could be old, or from another source. I think people get too caught up in whether it goes against their education or beliefs and then they lose sight of the truth... These things exist regardless, and I will go on a limb to reiterate that the naysayers on HF & elsewhere that deny the existence of the phenomenon are just plain wrong. It's okay, plenty of people are behind the times and learn things late, so we have to have some compassion for their misunderstandings.

But yeah... On a high level, anyone claiming there's no intelligent life in the entire universe is most likely extremely incorrect.

In near future, people will hear the following assumptions, theories, and claims depending on who's talking. It's so so important not to believe in just one theory without actual evidence. My evidence is that something exists, but not what/who/where/why it is so.

- > Gods, angels, and demons
- > Extraterrestrials / aliens
- > Natural phenomenon (ball lightning, plasmoid, etc)
- > Sentient phenomenon (conscious plasma)
- > Skunkworks (government + private companies included)
- > Classified gov projects
- > Breakaway civilization, more modern
- > Ancient civilization, similar to breakaway
- > Civ that left & came back

I am not saying any single reason above is true. My point is only to say that the phenomenon being witnessed IS true, and I've seen them myself on a few occasions.

Right now there are people who deny that the phenomenon even exists to begin with, and that's my only gripe.

Why/what/where/when/who is a totally different conversation, unrelated to what I want to do first:

share info & hopefully more people acknowledge that the question exists to begin with, and THEN we can try to figure out the answers.

Unfortunately right now people aren't even willing to ask the questions because they chop up the whole topic as fake news, a lie, schizo posting, crazy talk, or a conspiracy. And that's an injustice to humankind as a whole.

Phantom NiNja - May 12, 2026, 5:37 pm

(May 12, 2026 03:15 PM)Hackers Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree with that too. Not focused on it in this thread per-se because I think people get too caught up in it.

My stance is that we don't know the true source of the phenomenon, and it could be terrestrial, normal, or modern, or it could be old, or from another source. I think people get too caught up in whether it goes against their education or beliefs and then they lose sight of the truth... These things exist regardless, and I will go on a limb to reiterate that the naysayers on HF & elsewhere that deny the existence of the phenomenon are just plain wrong. It's okay, plenty of people are behind the times and learn things late, so we have to have some compassion for their misunderstandings.

But yeah... On a high level, anyone claiming there's no intelligent life in the entire universe is most likely extremely incorrect.

In near future, people will hear the following assumptions, theories, and claims depending on who's talking. It's so so important not to believe in just one theory without actual evidence. My evidence is that something exists, but not what/who/where/why it is so.

- > Gods, angels, and demons
- > Extraterrestrials / aliens
- > Natural phenomenon (ball lightning, plasmoid, etc)
- > Sentient phenomenon (conscious plasma)
- > Skunkworks (government + private companies included)
- > Classified gov projects
- > Breakaway civilization, more modern
- > Ancient civilization, similar to breakaway
- > Civ that left & came back

I am not saying any single reason above is true. My point is only to say that the phenomenon being witnessed IS true, and I've seen them myself on a few occasions.

Right now there are people who deny that the phenomenon even exists to begin with, and that's my only gripe.

Why/what/where/when/who is a totally different conversation, unrelated to what I want to do first: share info & hopefully more people acknowledge that the question exists to begin with, and THEN we can try to figure out the answers.

Unfortunately right now people aren't even willing to ask the questions because they chop up the whole topic as fake news, a lie, schizo posting, crazy talk, or a conspiracy. And that's an injustice to humankind as a whole.

I agree with you and for me my logic is that all you need to know about if there's life elsewhere in the universe. Just look at earth it's not just humans but look at all the insects, animals etc. Look how much life has on earth. Then knowing there's quintillion solar systems in our universe. That large numbers means it has to exist somewhere else in the universe and the proof is that we exist. Why do you think Elon wants to go to Mars so bad? It's because it's known in the military's level that aliens could be visiting us or crossing us by 2060. This is based on old texts and these beings that will return in 2060 aren't friendly but made us they took their DNA mixed with it the monkeys and created us. The reason is to come back and have us work for them as slaves. That is why we were designed to be weaker but smarter than monkeys. If you look at any animals on earth most have strength in some way. Monkeys have strong arms where they could rip your face off but they're pretty dumb. So, they needed slaves that could do actual work. That is why we were made to be smart enough that we could do technical work and learn to do more technical work. Yet, physically be so weak so they could control us.

All you have to do is ask Elon about the year 2060 what is going to happen. See how he reacts. I talked to him before and we talked and he told me about 2060 that we need to be prepared and is why he wants to go to Mars and the moon. His real goal is to get people into another solar system before 2060. These alien beings are far advanced than us. We won't have the tech to fight back. They will come back mine our resources and grow food for them. Do all the work then leave us to die.

Just think about it. Yes, I have talked to Elon you can sometimes catch him on Twitter. He does talk if interested. In person he doesn't have social cues meaning for him everything he does is based on logic meaning he won't talk to you if he doesn't like the topic or is interested in it. He likes sci-fi topics and technology. If you talk about something he already knows about it he will talk to you about it but only for 5 minutes and then stop and find someone else to talk to or if you change the topic to something interesting. He doesn't like wasting his time on nonsense unless he's getting paid.

He plans to go to the moon first then Mars but they will mine Helium-3 on the moon and he will manufacture his Starlink sats on the moon.

Which means it's cheaper to launch sats in orbit of Earth and in orbit of Mars. He has many other plans too. He is working on a boring machine to be used to mine minerals in space on asteroids. There's some that are nothing but diamonds. He is going to be super rich in the future.

My point is I always talk to him about tech and space. He wants a future to be what sci-fi tried to predict. He even thinks we can become immortal.

Meaning we could die and transfer our brains into a robot and live long because he said it's a lot easier to preserve the brain in a vacuum full of fluid that provides nutrition to it. However, you won't feel anything but will be in the robot and will see using cameras.

ModernEHustle - May 12, 2026, 7:24 pm

Uh mostly I'm just scared of AI

G Reviews - May 12, 2026, 11:45 pm

At first I thought you were hitting the pipe or the bottle a little hard today and just ranting on. But I do agree that there are technologies that are hidden from us and other technologies not allowed to see the light of day because they would destroy the dominant industries of today like oil and gas. There are far more efficient ways than gasoline or even Tesla battery powered cars to make things go. But us poor slobs on the bottom of the totem pole will most likely never see the real technologies being built because our governments have deemed it not necessary because they are too busy lining their own pockets and the pockets of all their buddies.

Eran - May 13, 2026, 8:48 am

As said in the movie Matrix, most people are not ready to be unplugged. Most people run on outdated operating systems as I like to say, or simply NPCs, however anyone can awaken to these kinds of things, we need to raise the collective consciousness of the planet.

DAL-SHA - May 13, 2026, 9:50 am

This thread feels like the black coffee in the morning : Awakening !

Thanks for taking the time you and Nodes to write this ! Much respect ! ?

Kaleb - May 13, 2026, 10:05 am

This thread seems to really lack an understanding on just the nature of science, engineering, and independent discovery.

Look into multiple discoveries, human bandwidth, and how things get invented. How Algebra was being created nearly side by side in different parts of the world, by different people.

It's not one guy sitting in a room making shit. It's teams, its thousands of scientists, thousands of engineers, mathematicians, you name it. Now your claim is that either there's just this hidden cracked team of people that are turning out scientific discoveries that breakthrough our understanding of the universe entirely, and engineers working with them to build the shit, and manufacturers supplying the parts and everything is just happening and not one fucking person is talking about it -.. or more incredibly, its a SMALL team of people doing all this.

Aliens, would literally make more sense in your argument here. That could explain the gap in knowledge, but to claim that the government just has these 400IQ locked up cracked engineers and scientists making shit for them and them only to keep hidden and then they never talk about it sounds silly with all due respect! It flies in the face of logic entirely.

I like aliens, I like paranormal stuff, its interesting, its fun but, it has an end ultimately. Nothing ever fucking happens. The fact they're releasing these files and shit and making the Depart of War website look like the x files is corny as fuck and the most clear example of a psyop I've seen in my life to likely distract from Trump failing at absolutely fucking everything like I told you fuckers he would before you elected him.

But I guess we gotta do a few years of forever wars and fucking the economy up and me paying $5 a tank because Kamala was so scary or something.

RangoWorld - May 13, 2026, 1:21 pm

Is there anything specific in terms of technology or being you think exists among us? Or are you implying that Aliens in whatever form they are in. Are being hidden by the government.

Also I believe there exists other beings than human. I believe in the metaphysical and I believe in the existence of ghosts.

Pr0m3th3us - May 13, 2026, 1:52 pm

I love when Nodes talks down to us and lets us know we are mere mortals compared to him and his ivory tower. Hes not even hiding it anymore, its literally in the title. Good write up though...your one of a kind man, and i respect that.

On a related side not, did anyone watch the 2nd Joe Rogen with Bob Lazar? What a great dude. Hes chill AF. Just ordered his book that i had no idea he had lol.

THE RULER - May 13, 2026, 2:09 pm

(May 13, 2026 01:52 PM)Rust-0l3um Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I love when Nodes talks down to us and lets us know we are mere mortals compared to him and his ivory tower. Hes not even hiding it anymore, its literally in the title. Good write up though...your one of a kind man, and i respect that.

Hahahahahaha it's legitimately entertainment. Comedic gold. I get a giggle out of the delusion. I respect that he can be so brazenly retarded as well.

Lindros - May 14, 2026, 1:01 pm

I 100% could not disagree more.

If anything the rest of the world has CLOSED the gap, if not surpassed the US in certain technologies.

Explain if we had such advanced systems, why we couldn't stop Iran from leveraging control over the Strait of Hormuz?

(May 13, 2026 10:05 AM)Kaleb Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This thread seems to really lack an understanding on just the nature of science, engineering, and independent discovery.

Look into multiple discoveries, human bandwidth, and how things get invented. How Algebra was being created nearly side by side in different parts of the world, by different people.

It's not one guy sitting in a room making shit. It's teams, its thousands of scientists, thousands of engineers, mathematicians, you name it. Now your claim is that either there's just this hidden cracked team of people that are turning out scientific discoveries that breakthrough our understanding of the universe entirely, and engineers working with them to build the shit, and manufacturers supplying the parts and everything is just happening and not one fucking person is talking about it -.. or more incredibly, its a SMALL team of people doing all this.

Aliens, would literally make more sense in your argument here. That could explain the gap in knowledge, but to claim that the government just has these 400IQ locked up cracked engineers and scientists making shit for them and them only to keep hidden and then they never talk about it sounds silly with all due respect! It flies in the face of logic entirely.

I like aliens, I like paranormal stuff, its interesting, its fun but, it has an end ultimately. Nothing ever fucking happens. The fact they're releasing these files and shit and making the Depart of War website look like the x files is corny as fuck and the most clear example of a psyop I've seen in my life to likely distract from Trump failing at absolutely fucking everything like I told you fuckers he would before you elected him.

But I guess we gotta do a few years of forever wars and fucking the economy up and me paying $5 a tank because Kamala was so scary or something.
100%, the post lacks understanding of the world.

Not saying the government does not have any secret programs and some hidden knowlegde...

However the defense industry exists to enrich shareholders, not to give the government secret alien level technology.

Hackers - May 19, 2026, 7:21 pm

New NSA drop - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6325710>

^^^

Quote:Objects displaying controlled behavior. Multiple entries describe objects with two yellow lights, flying at low altitude, that changed heading from north to west — silently (p. 314). A separate entry describes an object "going up and down vertically" that witnesses assessed as "impossible to be an aircraft," moving at high speed with "white-bluish luminous light" and "erratic turning movements" (p. 330).

Objects with physical characteristics inconsistent with conventional explanations. One entry, classified SECRET LARUM, describes a UFO as "spherical or disc-like in form with an established color brighter than the sun, with a diameter of one-half the visible size of the moon," observed above cloud cover with specific bearing and azimuth data recorded (p. 329). Another describes an "elongated ball of fire moving at high rate of speed" that, after covering some distance, "split into three balls of fire" (p. 333). A third entry documents an object with "luminous radiation of 22 meters extending in a spiral pattern" that gained altitude without noise (p. 322).

Military scrambles in response to unidentified objects. At least eight entries document fighter aircraft being scrambled to intercept UFOs. In the most dramatic case, 13 MIG fighters were dispatched to chase a single unidentified object (p. 236). Other entries describe military reactions to groups of objects — 72 at once (p. 63), 23 at once (p. 71) — at altitudes exceeding 70,000 feet.

Multi-witness sightings reported through intelligence channels. One entry, classified SECRET SAVIN, documents multiple independent observers reporting the same silent, direction-changing lights at approximately 2,000 feet distance (p. 315). The structured format — specific times, specific bearings, corroborating witnesses — reflects trained intelligence reporting, not casual observation.

Weekend Offender - May 19, 2026, 9:25 pm

Good post mate..Gave me something to read. Always considered myself to be very open minded but was shot down reading your post...Not open minded if i don't believe 'Your truth' XD Overall great post though.

Jamika - May 20, 2026, 7:17 am

I completely agree with you... but perhaps that's actually in people's best interest. Some things are better left unknown to us.

Hackers - May 20, 2026, 7:36 am

(May 20, 2026 07:17 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I completely agree with you... but perhaps that's actually in people's best interest. Some things are better left unknown to us.

I strongly disagree because if any of this touches zero point energy, propulsion breakthroughs, efficient energy sources/methods, or similar science... Then you could say it's one of the worst robberies of mankind's potential ever recorded/known by us.

We're potentially looking at a 75 year period in which the future of Earth was significantly held back so that current power & control systems could be preserved.

Think about it in regards to oil/gas/fuel/energy and the control over the global economy, progress, and abilities.

The most sane answer to everything is that everything being seen is just a gov project, and that's what leads to the thought, "well holy shit, if this is us, why the fuck are fighting over oil?"

And then any other explanation is obviously just an extension of that - more complicated, but same premise.

I think govs and the people will have to come to terms with this, and it'll take time to get over it. How do you tell an old man who fought in a war for a politician's oil that it was unnecessary, and other energy systems exist that completely invalidate our current technology? You can't do that easily. And that ultimately is the main driver of hiding all this for so long. There's an extreme guilt factor. Regardless of who/what/when/where/why, the people will have a hard time understanding why for almost a century (or longer), we have been forced into systems that may not even be relevant to modern (but secret) capabilities.

Like being forced to rely on a donkey for transport and then finding out about horses, trains, cars, and planes...

But now take that analogy and amplify it by a trillion for a comparison to what this could be like.

The guy relying on camels and donkeys discovering a fighter jet for the first time would have an easier time than the fighter jet pilot discovering what's truly possible.

And that's the problem. With disclosure also comes an acknowledgement that everything we've dealt with in terms of how our economy functions, and which countries dominate Earth is completely relying on outdated & incorrect info.

Anyways, I'm going on a tangent lol. The reason for so much infighting in the US Gov ultimately comes down to this. It's one thing to release the info - but the natural second conversation will be about why it was not released sooner, and I can tell you bluntly that many people will NOT forgive for that.