Thread: What are your weekend plans?

Mercury - May 22, 2026, 6:08 am

Happy Friday everyone,

What's everybody getting into this weekend? I think the only activities on my agenda are to try and work for some extra cash and get on the bike if weather permits.

What about you?

claudevandamme - May 22, 2026, 6:51 am just got sick leave from work tryin find some way to make some bread

Edmond Dantes - May 22, 2026, 7:08 am

Going on a small trip to Greece this Sunday. Other than that, I will try to hit Platinum on league ^^

Wake - May 22, 2026, 7:20 am

Chilling with my partner enjoying the weather walking our dogs and watching some new series that we have started.

Mastercarder - May 22, 2026, 8:36 am

Go to the gym and make some money.

Eran - May 22, 2026, 8:41 am

I might go to this hippie/camping like party event tomorrow. It's my last work day before vacay so I'll see whether I'm in the mood for it or not.

Eh it's a cool area to live in during the warmer months. During winter there is nothing to do.

That's how it is where I'm from as well. I've debated purchasing a snowmobile for the winter just so I'm not stuck in the house as much.

Snowmobile is cool af. You should def get one, if there is a lot of snow around you during winter.

I'm highly considering it. I ride motorcycle throughout the Summer months, so come October/November I'm bored out of my mind. I live in a very rural area though and I've heard rumors of farmers building traps for people who ride snowmobiles. It's kind of kept me spooked to the concept over the years.

These rumours usually don't come out of nowhere, so it's good to take it on mind.

Long weekend of work, day off on the Monday. Looking forward to that.

Deany - May 22, 2026, 11:30 am

Doing nothing at all , staying on the grind.

Going to my land to get set up for a camping trip in a few weeks with the boys, Need to sight in a few rifles too.

Might go get some new boots while I'm at it and make a decent range to use. Also I need to do some transmission work on the corvette but that will be during the week.

That sounds pretty solid. What kind of corvette? I always wanted a C5. I can't believe how much the new models resemble a Ferrari.

Wait, what? You got sick leave from your job so you could sit at home not making money to think about ways to make money?

tipme - May 23, 2026, 12:51 pm

I've started working on my Class A license for heavy motorcycles, and I went to speak with my instructor on Friday. Now I'm sitting here thinking about what kind of bike I should buy. I'm leaning towards X-ADV 750 scooter. My friend has one, and it's seriously badass.

It's called strategic pauses. Plus, it's hard to brainstorm a multi-million dollar empire when a manager is breathing down your neck asking why the Excel spreadsheet isn't color coded.?

I really want my next bike to be either a KTM Duke 390 or the RC 390. Not entirely sure which direction I'll go, but that's what it will most likely be.

For me its either that or honda forza 750 or go all in and buy R1 1000cc and die on the way back.

I have a 1991 GSXR 750 and a 25 Grom. The GSXR is completely built. It's bored out to a 771 and has pretty much every possible mod still available. I'll have to get you a spec sheet and some pictures sometime it's rather impressive honestly.

It seems to me your downgrading to a Ktm rather than upgrading. But what do I know im new to this.

Yes and no. I don't ride the GSXR much. It belonged to a family friend so it has sentimental value. It's also bulky and hard to whip around. I live on the outskirts of a city so I enjoy the idea of having bikes that are a bit more nimble.

I've wanted to get into tracking for awhile now and I've heard alot of good things about the RC 390's in that aspect too.

I made a motorcycle thread cuz im exited for the license to begin with. Ive checked out the africa 1100 daaaayum what a bike dude. But its so expensive..

Now I got 50 bytes time to gamble them away.

I'm planning to have a quiet weekend, get a few things done around the house, and spend some time outdoors if the weather is good. Nothing too exciting, but it will be nice to relax after a busy week.

marketm - September 2, 2026, 2:55 pm

drink & grill

Looking after the puppies, one of which is mine and the other belongs to my parents while they're away. Should be a good time.
