Image not found, feel free to PM me if for security reasons, I'll give ya a detailed critique if that's what you are looking for, pls let me utilize this art school knowledge I paid way too much money for

Oops not sure why it wasn't loading before, but this is a nice design that's straightforward and is organized well for the most part. The bottom navigation, specifically the links under 'Product' feel more appropriate placed within the top navigation (especially pricing & features) since that is where a vast majority of users will wanna click instead of reading.

Good color and typeface choice. The text within the 'How it Works' section could benefit from more hierarchy, try making the titles for each step bigger and bolder, and use green instead of the random shade of blue. Compare to the 'Trusted By Thousands' section, which is similar amount of information but displayed in much more cohesive manner.

Overall great work!!!

Unfortunately no, since I only did the design and layout for the client, I didn't check about the domain(
