Good day to all my fellow forum crawlers :)

Your boy v1v1ds is hopping back into graphic design. its been quite sometime since 2021 where i offered my graphics service. just recently making the finishing touches to my profile i thought damn i had fun actually making graphics.

The reason i post here is because for one im a bit rusty not as skilled as i once was. so i figured a cool way to get myself back into that creative state was to hook you guys up with stuff! :D

Now keep in mind take a look at my profile my banner for example. my skills right now are good enough to throw something quick together i bet if i really tried i can make some dope shit. Im not at the level where im gonna be offering stuff like thread design which i used to do on my old account here. for now ill mainly be offering stuff like little intermediate things. Avatars, Banners Signature designs etc. pretty much for all social platforms such as this where you can customize your profile.

Anyone whos interested in a profile redo for any social platform or wherever else hit me up ill be practicing regardless since i want to generally just get back into graphic design maybe even open up another graphic design service thread who knows.

Sadly i don't have my portfolio from my time here on my old account nor do i have a current one but starting from zero is dope :)
