1. PREMIUM FIFA ESPORTS BETTING PREDICTIONS

- 0% Fees on Losing Predictions
- Average Profit Per Session: €200
- 1h 30m Daily Sessions: 19:00-20:30 UTC
- 20+ Predictions Per Session

BetFoxes was built around a unique approach to FIFA ESports betting, designed to make it simple to follow.

If you have a phone and can keep an eye on notifications, you can use it.

The hard part is already done.

The structure is already built.

What makes BetFoxes truly different is not just the structure itself, but the protection behind it.

In this industry, we are the only service operating with a 0% fee model on losing bets.

A clear advantage designed to reduce friction, protect the user, and create a level of confidence that is almost never offered in sports prediction services.

If a bet loses, you don't pay.

It's that simple.

2. WHAT IT FEELS LIKE TO USE BETFOXES

Sessions run daily between 19:00 and 20:30 UTC.

During that time, around 20 predictions are delivered via Telegram notifications.

The process stays simple:

1. A notification arrives
2. You place the bet
3. You continue with your day

That's important.

Because most people want something they can integrate into real life.

3. WHY FIFA ESPORTS

BetFoxes focuses on FIFA ESports for one reason above all:

It offers an unusually strong analytical environment.

Matches run continuously, 24/7, generating an enormous number of games every day.

This creates two core advantages:

- uninterrupted opportunities to apply a system
- a massive amount of data from which repetitive patterns begin to emerge

Over time, player tendencies, win-loss streaks, recovery behavior after defeats, and recurring odds inefficiencies become visible.

4. TRANSPARENCY

You should never be asked to trust what you cannot verify.

That is why transparency is built into BetFoxes from the start.

Users have access to:

- fully transparent prediction history
- structured daily activity
- clearly documented performance
- zero fees on losing bets

No hidden results.

No selective reporting.

No need for blind belief.

Because if a system is real, it should be visible.

Welcome to BetFoxes.

Built on pattern recognition.

Executed through a structured daily process.

Backed by results you can verify. [contract=tid]Start Contract[/contract]

Huge vouch for this service. I personally invited Betfox to come to HF, as his service is incredible and really professional. I got trial on my first day with him and made over 400€ profit with 230€ investment. Today I bought access to the tips and managed to earn over 200€ in profit. If you are able to dedicate about 5 hours of your time during the times they are working, this service is really good.

I've never used this kind of service but I thought it was slightly funny what sets y'all apart. You don't charge on bets that lose. I'm guessing that's unique since you said it was but it's just crazy to me that any service would charge a fee on bad plays. "I know you lost your bet and we didn't help you but time to pay up for that info anyways." Good luck with sales, already got a good vouch I saw a above.

Most providers will offer either another replacement bet for losing bets, offer a refund or they charge a flat fee for predictions over a week, biweekly or monthly time period.

The thing with most services is that you pay subscription let's say for a period of time - 1 week etc (and the provider provides his tips, regardless if they are good or not) as we know with betting nothing is guaranteed) With these guys you pay only for your winning bets and if the overall profit for the day is in positive. Every single bet is put on their site and there are statistics for months with nothing hidden. The service is really professional and my only regret is not starting to work with them earlier. If one can afford the service and is willing to take the risk I can really recommend it. This is still betting, there is a chance to loose money, so everyone should invest only what he is willing to loose.

What's the plan to recover? + profit?

A streak of 3–4 losses is statistically insignificant when viewed against a sample size of roughly 1,500 predictions per month.

We send approximately 1,500 predictions per month, of which around 900 are winning predictions and 600 are losing predictions.

Our focus is always on the overall result, not on a short sequence of 3–4 losses. We do not change our strategy simply because a few predictions lose in a row, especially when the long-term performance remains strongly positive.

Everything is already explained in detail on BetFoxes in the Instructions section:

<https://betfoxes.com/instructions>

1. Short-Term Fluctuations Are Part of the Process

Much like any performance-based system, results may vary from day to day.

On average, approximately 3 days out of every 30 may close in negative territory. Such fluctuations are a normal part of long-term performance and should be evaluated within the context of the overall system rather than as isolated outcomes.

2. 0% Fee on Losing Days

If a day finishes in the red, all Fox Coins spent on predictions during that day are automatically returned to your account.

This means you only pay for days that generate a positive result.

3. Focus on the Full Session, Not the Opening Minutes

Some sessions may start slowly or experience temporary drawdowns early on.

This is completely normal.

In most cases, performance should be evaluated after the full session has concluded rather than based on short-term fluctuations during the session.

4. Follow the System Consistently

BetFoxes is built around following the complete process over time.

Skipping predictions, reacting emotionally to short-term results, or changing stake sizes impulsively may significantly affect your experience and results.

1) We recommend starting with a bankroll between $200–$400

2) Automation is technically possible, but we strongly advise against it. It violates the terms and conditions of betting platforms, and they can use that as a reason to void your winnings.

3) It's actually not 100+ predictions per day, it's between 40–50. You can verify this yourself by checking our history page: <https://betfoxes.com/history>

We recommend going through all the predictions in a session to replicate the results you see on our history page <https://betfoxes.com/history>, there you can also check results for each day, avg. profit over the last 30 days, and other useful stats.

Also check it out the instructions to see how everything works: <https://betfoxes.com/instructions>

Need more than that, started with 1000 today and down to 0 atm. Prediction history also isn't accurate as it bases it off "units" so a €126 stake bet would probably only be about 6 units which equals €60 for some odd reason. So even if the prediction history shows +€125 one day it's likely actually a loss because it doesn't reflect how much the user is actually betting.

It is gambling at the end of the day but prediction history really needs to be adjusted for true transparency.

That's how it started for me also then he gradually upped it more and more and since then there has also been ALOT more losses and I end up losing a lot more. This week had 2 good days yes but in the past few weeks I've usually only broke even or made maybe a hundred profit or so which for 5 hours of sitting there placing bets every 10 minutes isn't great. His loses have definitely got a lot worse over the past few weeks

I think it is a strategy so I spend more coins so I need to top up faster. Betfoxes isn't being fully transparent here.

So, you just left a vouch where you said you've made €10.000 using BetFoxes. Then a red day came where you lost 10%, you got emotional, deleted the vouch and now you're flaming against the service.

It seems like you're emotional unstable, and we clearly can't help you about this. Go get some professional help.

We've already cleared this up a week ago.

And honestly, it's a bit strange to question the "transparency" of a service that's generating thousands of euros in monthly profit for its users while openly publishing all of its statistics and results. That criticism doesn't really make much sense.

And since transparency was brought up, feel free to take a look at <https://t.me/BetFoxesVouches>, where members regularly share their experiences, feedback, and results.

Vouch for BetFoxes. I was a bit skeptical at first, but the first week of betting convinced me it's genuinely worth it. These are my earnings since July 10th — fox coin purchases are included, so this is net profit. I probably could have earned more, but I missed a few matches early on. It takes a bit of time to learn the ropes, and since day 2 I haven't missed a single match. Don't hesitate to give BetFoxes a try.

BetFoxes: What Started Great Is Starting to Feel Rigged

This service started off really well, but ever since @BetFoxes began rolling out changes that seem designed purely to protect his own profits, things have gone downhill fast. I've put in almost €400 in coins on this site so far, so this isn't a light complaint.

1. Recent results don't match the history

I started following in early July. Looking at the historical record, there were only 3 red days in 30 days. Since this month began, though, I feel like I've hit more red days than green ones. Sure, profit is still possible, I'm not denying that — but the gap between the "historical" performance and what's actually happening now is hard to ignore.

2. The "Levels" system takes control away from users

BetFoxes introduced a "Levels" system that users have zero control over. How does it make sense for someone else to decide how much money I should be staking on any given bet?

I made one single deposit and I'm already at Level 3.

This forces me to spend way more coins than before.

It requires a bigger bankroll just to keep a healthy cashflow.

If I don't want to increase my stakes, why am I being pushed to pay more for the reviews?

Almost €400 in coins later, and I still have no real control over how much I'm "encouraged" to spend.

3. Support is genuinely bad

I referred 3 friends to the platform:

Two of them never got a response at all.

The third created an account, never received the free trial, and still hasn't heard back after over two weeks.

On top of that, I personally still can't get a clear explanation of how the "Levels" system actually works. And now there's a referral system too — I used it with another friend, and his account still hasn't been accepted.

Bottom line

The service does work, to be fair. But at this point it feels like the owner is optimizing for his own profit rather than the users', and current results simply don't line up with the track record being advertised. Oh, and good luck finding a bookmaker that doesn't limit or block you within a week of using this.

Your edge has consistently gone down since you started, down almost 80% since beginning of the year. Is method/process cooked? Totally get variance but to see 80%+ drawdown and continued, consistent month over month decline on daily profit is concerning

Comparing the absolute peak to the current low will naturally make the decline look extreme. You can find 80%+ differences between peaks and lows in almost anything in this world, it's not necessarily the most representative comparison.

The bigger factor is that the service itself has changed significantly. In the beginning, conditions were extremely favorable and we were running 5-10 hours of sessions per day. Naturally, that produced much higher daily profits.

Conditions have changed, and we're adapting rather than pretending they haven't. We've now reduced the format to focused 1h 30min daily sessions.

Much less time in the market inevitably means much lower absolute daily profit. The goal now is to rebuild consistency and performance within the current environment, rather than chase the numbers we were producing under completely different conditions.

NotJinx - August 18, 2026, 4:55 pm

Positive vouch for BetFoxes.

I have been using the service since June and, overall, I can recommend it. There are losing days and nothing is guaranteed, but in my experience the profitable sessions have made up for the losses and the cost of the predictions.

The sessions are now shorter and easier to follow, and the free or discounted pricing after weaker performance is a good improvement. My only complaint is the Fox Levels system, because the predictions become more expensive as your level increases, and I would prefer to have more control over that.

Despite that, BetFoxes has remained profitable and worthwhile for me. Just make sure you have enough bankroll, follow the full session and only bet money you can afford to lose.
