I baked a cake for mother's day. Idk what to do for father's day, I was thinking of just buying beer or smth. Any ideas?

What does your father enjoy? What about a nice bottle of whiskey or something?

Honestly mate, I think the best gifts are usually the ones that show a bit of effort rather than just money spent.

If you baked a cake for Mother's Day, maybe do something similar for your dad. Cook him a meal, take him out for lunch, or spend some quality time together. A few beers are fine if that's what he's into, but the memory will probably mean more than the gift itself.

Afew of his favourite beers or if you can afford it..A really nice whiskey or some type of spirit. I only suggested alcohol as you mentioned about buying his favourite beer.
