What is a USO? unidentified submerged object

Just 1 of many high quality sensor recordings, from US military.

High quality sensors / video showing movement of contrast regions in formation of 4 USO:

USO is a unique acronym that refers to objects that can go underwater. They are unique because of how they can transfer mediums (air/water) without disturbing the water, and moving underwater with ease.

This video doesn't show clearly the underwater movement, but is supplemental to what is dozens of other recordings and events recorded by the US military regarding USO.

I want to remind naysayers that top officials across multiple gov administrations have confirmed the existence of USO formations and events involving the Navy as well as the USAF.
