

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Pentagon releases 3rd batch of UFO files

?inimalist - June 12, 2026, 10:28 am

Pentagon releases 3rd batch of UFO files, detailing mysterious orb sightings: "Are you seeing this?"
? loading encrypted image...

Washington — The Pentagon on Friday released a new group of documents and videos related to UFOs, or UAPs, the third release since the government began a wave of new disclosures last month.

The latest batch includes 53 documents and 10 images from the CIA, FBI, NASA, the Department of Defense and other unspecified agencies, along with six videos and three NASA audio recordings. The videos show orb-like objects in the sky, while a set of images and clips offer "artistic interpretations" of reported sightings.

Several of the documents detail encounters reported by federal law enforcement officers in 2023, in which five agents reported seeing strange orbs on the horizon. One agent recounted their partner asking, "Are you seeing this?" as a glowing orb lit up the sky.

What's in the latest files?

The Pentagon uploaded the files to its UFO website. Four of the videos show eyewitness footage of strange encounters, a shift from previous releases, which were dominated by military footage. The new videos, which were collected by the FBI, include details from interviews with the witnesses.

One encounter happened in July 2025. The video, titled "Northeastern Orb Sighting," shows two bright lights moving through the sky.

"The witnesses described the orbs' motion as silent and smooth, and as moving in tandem as though they were flying in formation or tethered together," the video description said, citing the FBI's interviews.

Source: <https://www.cbsnews.com/news/ufo-files-pentagon-3rd-release-documents-videos/>

Official website: <https://www.war.gov/UFO/?releaseDate=Release+03&release=03>

anua - June 12, 2026, 10:37 am

Interesting that there are now videos verified by the US government. I wonder what the actual object or phenomenon might be and why did the US Gov decided to release such videos.

?inimalist - June 12, 2026, 10:49 am

(Jun 12, 2026 10:37 AM)anua Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Interesting that there are now videos verified by the US government. I wonder what the actual object or phenomenon might be and why did the US Gov decided to release such videos.

The question is, Why are they publishing this now? What exactly are they trying to show and what are they trying to tell us?

_VOX - June 12, 2026, 10:55 am

I'd rather know what's in the ocean than in the sky! But maybe that's just me.

?inimalist - June 12, 2026, 10:59 am

(Jun 12, 2026 10:55 AM)_V0X Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'd rather know what's in the ocean than in the sky! But maybe that's just me.

Indeed. Just imagine that we've only explored about 5–10% of the ocean. I don't think we'll ever truly know what's down there.

5chn4pp - June 12, 2026, 2:15 pm

(Jun 12, 2026 10:49 AM)?inimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The question is, Why are they publishing this now? What exactly are they trying to show and what are they trying to tell us?

It's called a distraction. They want you to look and spend time on this. It stops you from thinking about certain other files.

cryptojack - June 13, 2026, 8:31 am

Close encounter of the third kind getting closer and closer now. I wonder what will happen when they actually make their presence known officially. How will we relate to the various scriptures when it finally happens? I'm an atheist myself so it won't affect me in that sense, but the fundamentalists will go berserk when their whole world view crumbles under their feet.

Also curious what aliens actually look like and if there are lots of different types.

lordshisho - June 13, 2026, 9:10 am

(Jun 13, 2026 08:31 AM)cryptojack Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Close encounter of the third kind getting closer and closer now. I wonder what will happen when they actually make their presence known officially. How will we relate to the various scriptures when it finally happens? I'm an atheist myself so it won't affect me in that sense, but the fundamentalists will go berserk when their whole world view crumbles under their feet.

Also curious what aliens actually look like and if there are lots of different types.

I don't think aliens will debunk any particular beliefs, including scripture-literalist ones.

The Bible, for example, is clear: God created the heavens and the earth and everything in them.

I think the questions they would ask are "Did they need Christ's sacrifice?", "Are the human-specific claims in scripture relevant to them?" instead of having an entire philosophy crumble.

It's much easier to integrate another intelligent species into religion than you might think.

Sodan42 - June 14, 2026, 6:55 am

(Jun 13, 2026 09:10 AM)lordshisho Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think aliens will debunk any particular beliefs, including scripture-literalist ones.

The Bible, for example, is clear: God created the heavens and the earth and everything in them.

I think the questions they would ask are "Did they need Christ's sacrifice?", "Are the human-specific claims in scripture relevant to them?" instead of having an entire philosophy crumble.

It's much easier to integrate another intelligent species into religion than you might think.

You're right about the heavens and the earth, but devout or fundamentalist religious people (especially Christians and Muslims) may go full ape if anything tangible, like extra terrestrials, disproves their core belief system. I can imagine someone like Christian Cleetus Jackson in Alabama reaching for his assault rifle when his god turns out to be mostly fluff; his atheist neighbors would have to run for cover on disclosure day.

No disrespect or hate intended, but it could get ugly.

Dr_RezfanFutyulo - June 15, 2026, 3:54 pm

While I reckon it is more realistic to expect other life out there, than none, my issue are the pedo cabals running the current system, the debt money we are using and the constant debauchery of the human spirit akin to what Uncle Ted has explained, to a T.

UFO / Alien stuff is most likely either a buildup to some fake and gay AI / lightshow, or a complete misdirection. Or both, depending on your timing.

KtDan - June 16, 2026, 9:13 am they just trying divert the universal attention to where they want, ain't nothing going on real about UFO's