Thread: How do I gain popularity in this forum?

N0TH1NG - June 20, 2026, 9:26 pm

Hey everyone. I'm trying to get more noticed and start contributing more here, but I'm not sure what actually works. What's the best way to build a good presence—what should I focus on and what should I avoid? Any simple tips from people who've had success?

You can't and you dont unless your energy allows for it. If you rep whore with giveaways I guarantee nobody will respect you and I especially wont. Dont listen to these guys.

Thank You soo much brother again.

By the way, please tell me: will the popularity you gave me help me build a good reputation, or is it something like a gift or charity? If anything I said sounded rude, I'm sorry.

_VOX - June 21, 2026, 8:52 am

Easiest way is to just conversate, get to know people. As stated though rep does not really mean anything!

That's ok bro. No need to be sorry. I'm here to help. The popularity rep I gave you is more of a community appreciation gesture and can help your profile stand out, but it doesn't automatically mean someone is trustworthy. Trust is better reflected by credibility, since that's earned after successfully completing deals and having positive transaction history.

In short: popularity = recognition, credibility = proven trustworthiness. ?
