Thread: [Claude Claude Max 20x subscription \[27 days\]](#)

selling my Claude Claude Max 20x subscription, you get the Gmail account, change everything and add 2fa then use it to login to claude.

bought it all excited and ended up frustrated with how hard it is to make it work on grey hat projects.

bought it for $200, selling it for $120

27 days remaining on it, the limit are very very generous.

first come first served.

Quick edit : this is the $200 plan, the $100 plan on claude's website is for x5 usage, this one is x20 refer to this page : <https://support.claude.com/en/articles/11049762-choose-a-claude-plan>

It is very hard to reach the limit compared to the x5 that stops you every now and then.

it's probably your prompting, I've been using it reverse engineering ever since I've had it

I've even made some PoC RCE's on some games with it as well

I've even made some PoC RCE's on some games with it as well Could be, but I really don't have the energy to gaslight it all day long, I can do it with normal models but this one is too smart, I have to modify a prompt 5 to 6 times for it to buy it
