

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: any new games coming out?

Phantom NiNja - July 22, 2026, 6:00 pm

Got any new games that you're excited to be released.

I think GTA 6 is one of them. I know of nhl 27 . I saw the trailer.

what else is coming out that people are excited. I know of a small indie game called Paralives that was recently released.

Anyone played that and there's another game called inZOI that is like life simulation.

What other cool games coming out. I am more interested in business tycoon and simulation game for pc.

I do play xbox on occasion like rocket league. I like sport games too like NHL but haven't played a sport game for the past 12 years.

McClubbin - July 25, 2026, 5:43 am

Gears: E-Day. Steering away from licensing to the Sony Networks (PS5, etc.) but it will probably be yet another masterpiece. Only setback is that it's set about 14-15 years before the plot of Gears 1, so there won't be any absolution or furthering of its main plot as far as I know. Still, Unreal makes amazing stuff.

~L

DemonAsylum - July 31, 2026, 6:29 pm

For the remainder of the year, nothing I'm SUPER excited about. A few games that I do have some level of interest and or excitement for though are:

The Blood of Dawnwalker (I'll see how it looks from reviews, gameplay videos, and streams to decide if I want to pick it up)

Dynasty Warriors 3 Remastered (A for sure buy that is purely nostalgic as I loved the DW games when I was younger)

Gears of War: E-Day (It's on Xbox Game Pass, so I'll definitely play through the campaign and dabble in some horde at least)

GTA 6 (Likely not a day 1 buy for me, but I can see myself picking it up sometime down the line as I do love GTA)

There were a couple of others that I was very much looking forward to, but they unfortunately got delayed until next year. Shoutout to Fable and Metro 3039.

Pr0m3th3us - July 31, 2026, 6:48 pm

I have a thread for my personal games of 2026. I plan on making one in december for 2027 also, check it out.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6321986>

Phantom_NiNja - August 4, 2026, 8:29 am

(Jul 31, 2026 06:29 PM)DemonAsylum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For the remainder of the year, nothing I'm SUPER excited about. A few games that I do have some level of interest and or excitement for though are:

The Blood of Dawnwalker (I'll see how it looks from reviews, gameplay videos, and streams to decide if I want to pick it up)

Dynasty Warriors 3 Remastered (A for sure buy that is purely nostalgic as I loved the DW games when I was younger)

Gears of War: E-Day (It's on Xbox Game Pass, so I'll definitely play through the campaign and dabble in some horde at least)

GTA 6 (Likely not a day 1 buy for me, but I can see myself picking it up sometime down the line as I do love GTA)

There were a couple of others that I was very much looking forward to, but they unfortunately got delayed until next year. Shoutout to Fable and Metro 3039.

Cool, but I know the GTA 6 is a must for most. I am in my late 30s and haven't played any video games since high school.

I am more of a business tycoon or simulation type of guy.

microsoft flight simulator, airline tycoon, restaurant tycoon 2 which is a game where you start your own pizza shop.

the sims type games.

For whatever reason, I just don't have that excited like I used to when wanting to play games.

Today's games have the best graphics but I feel like the gameplay design is lacking.

I used to play gta vicecity back in the day and that was the last GTA game I played. I have played the first gta game back in the 90s where it had a top view. I haven't played the latests ones but do know the graphics looks great.

ModernEHustle - August 5, 2026, 11:02 am

Honestly we're all waiting for gta6 let's be honest