

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What's your internet speed?

Wake - July 23, 2026, 11:28 am

I just moved house recently and I am looking to have a 900mbps package installed, what speeds do you guys have?

HerrWinston - July 23, 2026, 11:30 am

I have 320mbps download and 180mbps upload speed, its fast but personally a little bit faster would be very neat too :)

Pr0m3th3us - July 23, 2026, 11:34 am

375 up and down. I personally dont see a reason for anything higher. My biggest downloads are mostly games.

ShadowPacket_ - July 23, 2026, 11:41 am

700 down and 180 ish up. Was the cheapest ?

Wake - July 23, 2026, 12:00 pm

(Jul 23, 2026 11:41 AM)VxPrpl Wrote: CITE 700 down and 180 ish up. Was the cheapest ?
Do you get over 500 on wireless?

Ph4n70M Phr34K - July 23, 2026, 12:22 pm

700 dl / 150 up.

i can get 10/1 gbps in my area but im highly doubt to achieve that speed without custom hardware

ShadowPacket_ - July 23, 2026, 12:32 pm

(Jul 23, 2026 12:00 PM)Wake Wrote: CITE Do you get over 500 on wireless?
That was on wireless, about 680 I think it was. Wired it's about 800.

5chn4pp - July 23, 2026, 12:36 pm

Paying for 1000/1000 Mbit, and when testing it out I'm getting 930/930 Mbps on my desktop.

On my laptop using Wi-Fi, I get 770/580 Mbps.

But more importantly for me, my ping time is 7 ms, which I really like.

Headspace - July 23, 2026, 12:43 pm

I pay for Spectrum's 1Gig plan ($100/month) use their modem and an Orbi 770 Mesh System Router with MoCA 2.5g adapters for the satellites. To my knowledge, they are rolling out the high-split system in my region soon with plans promising symmetrical 2-5Gbits.

? loading encrypted image...

Saterax - July 23, 2026, 3:46 pm

We use Sparklight/CableOne because they basically had a monopoly until recently when T-Mobile/MetroNet came in and laid fiber and offered super cheap prices.

Get fucked sparklight.

We still have them for convenience, we only pay for the 300Mbps down and 20Mbps up but it kinda just does whatever it wants. This is on a laptop nonetheless with the default modem with a built in router/ gateway they give you.

? loading encrypted image...

Supryt - July 24, 2026, 4:23 am

I bought internet package with monthly plan 20 mbps

The Joker - October 6, 2026, 9:35 pm

(Jul 24, 2026 04:23 AM)Supryt Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I bought internet package with monthly plan 20 mbps
Finally someone who has a slower internet than me.. ?

? loading encrypted image...

DryNode - October 6, 2026, 9:48 pm

750.1 Mbps download with a 133.4 Mbps upload all while using a VPN

roughly

Download: ~93.8 MB/s

Upload: ~16.7 MB/s

RiveR29 - October 6, 2026, 10:02 pm

I got a humble 1GB download and somewhere around 750MB upload.
And that's only due to me living a the capital city of my country.

ICTKUN - October 7, 2026, 2:43 am

300 Mbps opticial fiber speed ..

But it still do shit when i download torrent lol

Sift - October 7, 2026, 11:29 am

Well I'm traveling between countries sadly only 2mbps-50mbps a very high downgrade from my 1gbps connection.

?ystem - October 8, 2026, 2:23 pm

On average, my download speed is generally around 500Mbps with 20Mbps upload. I'm happy with it. It's far better than what I've had in the past. Pretty much whenever a negative thought pops into my head regarding my internet speed, I think back to when I was a kid and how dial-up was the only option available with how remote my childhood home was.