Hello, welcome to HF

I recommend people to start with tryhackme.com, it's a platform where you can learn and practice on vulnerable machines online. There is a free version you can try, and at the beginning you'll have a lot of things to do. But if you feel limited there is a paid version too, with learning paths. Other platforms :

- root-me.prg
- hackthebox.com

I recommend you to check this thread, lot of valuable information and resources :

Linux Basics For Hackers

I have these 2 books and No Starch Press honestly makes the most "hacker" books around.
