

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Regarding the Devil, for Us... -- do you "believe in" the Devil?

Anonymous OP - August 8, 2026, 3:34 am

BREAKING NEWS: "The Devil" is real, and is crucial for separating impurity and lies from your truth/intelligence.

The Devil is the Liar. There is no Devil for animals; because they lack the ability to perceive truth and "know" truth and purity.

How you accept/agree to things is extremely important, and happens in your heart.

This world make us perceive impurity, and lovingly, or humbly, or morally, or humorously accept "impurity".

Impurity to someone actually-intelligent, Spiritual, pure, faithful, true; is the Devil, and not part of their truth.

God is All-Pure. And God is The Truth. The Devil is entirely impure. And the Devil is the Liar.

The Truth is Good for us; and God wants you to choose Him, and be grateful, and gratitude provides intelligence. God wants what is best for His.

Lies are evil; and the Devil wants the very worst for you; but he will trick you into loving evil/impurity/lies.

True wealth is true innocence; and knowing you are in the grace of GOD/Jesus Christ. A blessed relationship with God comes from a pure heart, and choosing Truth.

I am typing this because I thought I'd share this to see what you say. But I was thinking; if I had a kid one day/children, I recognise that they don't have certain things that are needed to be "intelligent/Spiritually mature" -- it dawned on me that the main reason they are not Spiritual and intelligent, and able to thrive with blessings FROM their innocence/youth; is because our parents don't teach us to separate the Devil from their actual-intelligence, or acceptance, or agreements, and the scary thing; love. Transgenders in America for example. I am Spiritual; and the greatest leader this world has been blessed with in this time. Indeed; I recognise that if I were a child again, I would certainly need the awareness/power/ability to understand/become aware, in truth, of the importance of separating/accepting/agreeing/rejecting.

I'm half Gypsy, and I have always had a blessed ability to be pure in my innocence, from suffering, though.

I recommend you all try to encourage your children to remain in Gods love; and locate the "sense" for Purity/Truth -- as this is how we should have evolved all along; and we would be an entirely different world if we had known to teach our children this. Separating the Devil, being aware, and self-aware, in truth, doesn't just keep your children actually-intelligent, it keeps them safe, and aware of all the demons in this world, that are not just impure; but an actual-threat to your children's souls, and, yes, life on Earth.

What's your thoughts on this? Have you ever had a Spiritual relationship with God? And did you separate the Devil/impurity/lies with the LABEL of the Devil? And what did you know the Devil to be? Someone who wants what's very worst for you/for you to burn? Someone that is the Liar? Someone who tricks you into feeling good/loving your feelings/what you're perceiving, but is making your truth a lie/impure? How can children take the power needed to recognise the Devil exists; and is everywhere?

I believe I am King, and my words are not only extremely important, but desperately needed, for as many people as absolutely possible.

Be safe... the Devil lives in many people, AS them. Some people know this; and don't care. That's when it becomes dangerous.