The order did not work out as intended. This was the result of bad communication on both sides. Adolfi agreed to refund me a few weeks ago now. He has given several dates about when he will refund, but no payment yet. Each time the day comes that the refund should be issued another excuse pops up.

Just trying to understand for a second, do people actually trust these kinds of services?

If it were a travel agency or something similar, I'd get it. But personally, I wouldn't feel comfortable trusting an online service like this from a complete stranger.

imagine booking a hotel stay knowing there's a potential it could be carded.

You, just snoozing away, and fbi knocks at your door.

Risky shit man

Not to mention that, at the time the contract was entered into, the seller already had two existing deal disputes, both involving their failure to fulfill Buy4U food delivery services followed by them ghosting the buyers

I've seen a police video online where this exact situation happened, and the guy claimed it was a service he purchased on Telegram.

Personally, I think the heavy discount is not worth losing your peace of mind.

Brother, don't judge me by what happened 5 years back. If something doesn't work. I refund the customer.

I am sending him refunds in small increments, very soon I am getting a big payment from a customer after delivery of an item bro. Will pay him in big parts then. We're holding on to each other. he is very good at understanding my situations

Now whatever deal I am doing is going through escrow bots. So there is no payment upfront. Customers loads the money on the escrow bot. After delivery of the item is done, then only he releases. So from now, there is no chance of any customer getting stuck. if order gets canceled while being on the way or whatever is the reason, they get full refund instantly from the bot (this is not the case with any HF customer yet , its my personal customer from other forums) . I'll be offering this to the next customers which I shall get later from HF) I am absolutely refunding this customer asap brother. Just please bare with me in my difficult times .
