I've talked to guys on here who claimed they were posting on Hack Forums actually FROM prison and one claimed someone had smuggled in the phone he was using in the cavity of a chicken, which he said was done because their official devices in there they have no privacy on or whatever?

Correct, in most cases they're JP3 tablets. They are locked down tighter than a tick's ass in most cases and depending on where you're at, incredibly expensive to use. If I had to guess, most institutions would naturally block a place like this, so these guys are typically using a secondary, smuggled device to get on here, ask questions, etc.

It was your personal choice that led you to where you are and all you can do is utilize this abundance of free time by bettering your knowledge and yourself. I wish you the best of luck dude/dudette.

Oh yeah I read something about they charge them a fortune to watch movies on their devices and stuff. Brtual.

I thought it was funny that that Chris Watts guy that's supposed to have killed his family but it seems like a psyops for the fracking industry but there were news articles that when he tried to send an obscene letter to a penpal on his JPay or whatever it's called they prison guards read it and deleted it unsent and that his punishment was one whole week with no devices. Cruel and unusual punishment!/:s

Why do so many people seem to think people just sit around watching TV in prison?

Pretty sure they're forced to work a 9-5 whether it's laundry, kitchen, garden, making licence plates and even sometimes a call centre although that seems crazy. Janitor job, mopping floors, maybe a library job.

If you can't do the time, don't commit the crime.

XtremeDiscount - September 12, 2026, 1:08 pm

Damn! How much more time do you have?

N3ckbreakaz - September 12, 2026, 8:19 pm

Yea I just did 3years and 7 months for trafficking forgery and identity theft funny story I had a secret indictment for trafficking and of course using my web resources (around time genesis market was open had access to over 100k different full)I got a fake id with real info so I ended up getting arrested on some different shit under some petty felony anyway I was in the jail for about a month waiting to go to a rehab and I almost made it until my ex girlfriend decided she wanted to keep all of my shit (around 30k worth of designer sunglasses cologne id printers and other equipment) decided to call and tell on me but hey I spent the time coming up with 3 notebooks full of business plans and a couple of books now I'm running it all thru Gemini hoping at least one works out anymore would be a blessing so that's the silver lining I guess sorry for ranting prison sucks

I recently came out, I was in for 7 months, I can assume that theres a huge difference between the cells in Europe and USA.

I used to get a paid once per 2 weeks, we got like 1-2 bucks per hour for doing works, so after 2 weeks i had around 50-70 bucks to spend on sweets, coffe, and phonecards and letters etc...

WE got locked up at 18:45 in the cell, and they reopened the cell at 07:00 locked up with another inmate.

Food was okay, in my pison wing we had around 30 inmates in total.

1 hour outside each day.

Yeah... don't do that again. It can't be very fun.
