Thread: Crypto up ? Gold up? Reason? ? 80k BTC

Well, this makes sense to me. What's your opinion?

Reason :- US debt reached new all time high - 40 trillion usd

They're planning to buy their own long term bonds upto their 2 billions but now increased to 4 billions atleast - this gives a sharp impact to crypto and gold.

Let me explain you in easy words :-

American gov needs money, they come to us and offer their bond against interest rates but unfortunately due to recent conditions we don't feel safe because of total debt. So they increased their interest on bonds that's why bond interest is also all time high.

Still People started moving funds from bonds to crypto and other markets.

But on the other side war thing but now it's not giving much impact other thn oil prices.

So technically in short term we're bullish.

Ok, but what happens if some of the whales decide to take off the BTC at this rate and drop the prices drastically? Doesn't that mean the US is fucked? Or am i missing something?

Few whales vs public fomo buying

This will most likely balance the equation and it will be making higher high.

$82k price btc within 10 hours.

In sep 2 major events - crypto bill and fomc

Worst case if both the news = negative

Yes! Btc will correct a little bit. But before those event mostly likely will touch 90k.

Just a tip for you, in this cycle eth will over perform;)

Costanza - August 21, 2026, 11:34 pm

I all in'd at around few days ago i'm wondering whether i sell now . up a bit but to be honest it , same old crypto manipulation dogshit everything giga wicked down lmao. weighing my options here

The liquidity injection is definitely driving the pump, but it's more about global fiat debasement than bond interest rates.

When macro uncertainty hits and sovereign debt explodes, institutional capital starts hedging hard into hard assets. That is why both Gold and BTC are pushing all-time highs simultaneously right now. Short term momentum is definitely heavily bullish.

yeah, Btc should cross 85-90k before next month 2 events.

1. Crypto bill in America
2. FOMC

Incase if bill gets delayed, we can expect a correction + FOMC if rates increase. Just to keep bullish momentum, we need a little bit more pump before that to keep the sentiment bullish.

Spot on regarding the FOMC and the bill timeline. If macro sentiment gets shaky ahead of those dates, a heavy correction wouldn't surprise me at all. We definitely need that pre-event cushion to absorb the volatility.

I actually prefer to keep my business and chats directly on the site for now instead of Telegram, but I'll definitely see you around the threads. Appreciate the insight!

Once we cross @82k I'm fully bullish.

Change of all the sentiments;)

Train also left the station, 100k looks near thn 60k.

Mark my words eth will over perform btc ;)

ETH is already out performing BTC on the last monthly rise. I think there is more room to grow too. If there is a serious bull run then ETH could hit 5K That's expected between the two. One will rise or fall harder than the other. They will never move by the exact same percentage.

Solid perspective! Spot on about $82k being the key flip level for sentiment. Good to know you prefer using HF contracts too—I'll PM you directly on-site whenever I need middleman or exchange services.

The Pact - August 25, 2026, 6:39 pm

A while back I swapped all the crypto that I had won in Hack Forums contests to Bitcoin. Last night I sold it all and got nearly $400 my currency. This is money that was won purely in Hack Forums contests over a number of years.

I really can't see it, if anything it goes down to previous $60-63k range and holds. This move is what BTC and alts needed imho to prove itself once again. Everyone thought the market and alts would never recover until the next bullrun... ofc we can still dump all the way back down but at least we seem to be picking up momentum, if continues I can see us hitting $100k again within Q4.

My take is as long as trump is in office, we aren't in a giga bull nor bear market. More like a limbo state with huge pumps and huge dumps. I'd say expect moves like this for the next 2 years.. as that's what's been happening since his inauguration.
