Thread: All in SUI at 65c

Costanza - August 21, 2026, 11:39 pm

I bought in the other day when it dropped to 65c and put every cent I own into it. It's up a fair bit now, so I'm wondering whether I should cash out or just let it run.

Just watched it tank from 95c to 80c in about 30 seconds though. Typical crypto manipulation, probably Binance lmao

Wondering whether i sell or hold . very torn.

It's high risk move. You can add stop loss at like 66-65C so at least you don't lose anything in case it tanks.

Right now it depends if you are okay with this amount of gain.

Not really happy with it , lost a lot over the past year . would like another 30-40% but i don't know might add a S/L

Sold all of my ADA in april , rotated to sui few days ago got lucky with timing tbh

Ended up selling for 25% profit roughly , not too sure if i'm going to regret it really depends on how much you're in for. What's all in in this case, all your networth in crypto? in that case no it's a terrible decision. Is it money you're playing with for the fun of the game? all in on an alt coin makes more sense there, you're gambling in this market at the end of the day. Only bitcoin is a non gamble pick but needs patient and money you don't mind not touching for a long while.

Good decision imo. Live to invest another day. You will find more better opportunities.
