Thread: What do you think about GTA6?

Guys, have you seen the latest news? Rockstar has had another major leak, they dumped a ton of gameplay footage online and are threatening to release what's essentially an up-to-date working build of the game. In my opinion, leaks like this only ruin the experience. It's way cooler to get that "wow" effect from an official video. But now the main question is: do you think this scandal might cause the big gameplay showcase, which was officially announced for August 27, to be postponed? It'll be a bummer if Rockstar decides to move the date.

I don't think the leaks will cause anything to change. I am sure there is a mountain of lawyers on both sides for this netflix showcase deal. I also think it will go down in gaming history forever if the build gets leaked, and PC users can play the game first. Really really funny stuff. This group is really crazy for burning all of their crypto supply, they are just making money from trading fees now. It has some crazy market cap Trash-ass game. Mad overpriced and way too hyped. I hope GTA 6 is the final nail in Rockstar's coffin.

I watched the leaks, at some points it looks like real life. Really proud I get to live and see this era of tech, it's truly a joy seeing the huge leaps forward.

I don't know if I'll ever buy it, i don't really game but I'll enjoy it on YouTube and such.
