

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Trump Renames Lake Ontario

Prepper - August 27, 2026, 11:47 am

To help the American people greatly afford food, gas and everything else and get costs down tremendously Donald Trump has signed an executive order lowering costs for Americans, he also signed an order for full disclosure on the Epstein Files.... oh wait I am incorrect on that.

Instead he signed an order renaming Lake Ontario to Lake America, surely this greatly helps the American people out tremendously.

<https://www.foxnews.com/politics/trump-renames-lake-ontario-lake-america-amid-intensifying-us-canada-trade-dispute>

jcole - August 27, 2026, 12:15 pm

I don't see the point in that. It does appear that the USA and Canada share the same amount of territory over this lake.

? loading encrypted image...

TheNaturalBoy - August 27, 2026, 12:17 pm

Damn, for a moment I was actually surprised while I was reading this. I started thinking, "Is the world finally starting to change? Has the craziest president in the world actually done something right?" You got me there :3

Hey, this reminds me of that time they changed the name of the Gulf of Mexico to the Gulf of America jajaja

Prepper - August 27, 2026, 12:24 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 12:15 PM)jcole Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't see the point in that. It does appear that the USA and Canada share the same amount of territory over this lake.

? loading encrypted image...

Canada should retaliate and name their side Lake Canada.

If Trump wants to be petty and throw childish tantrums instead of helping the American people then these countries he is bullying should not back down and instead retaliate with the same pettiness.

TheNaturalBoy - August 27, 2026, 12:24 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 12:15 PM)jcole Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't see the point in that. It does appear that the USA and Canada share the same amount of territory over this lake.

? loading encrypted image...

I think Trump and the groups that support him have some kind of fetish for naming everything after the country. On one hand, it's kind of amusing. The United States of America doesn't really have a proper country name, so to speak; they just call themselves "America," like the continent. (That's why it's pretty common for a lot of content creators to make jokes about Americans not knowing geography.)

Anyway, I feel like the Trump administration does these things as a way of trying to say, "We're gaining ground, we're having more influence, and we're making an impact." At least, that's how I see it.

Prepper - August 27, 2026, 12:45 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 12:24 PM)TheNaturalBoy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think Trump and the groups that support him have some kind of fetish for naming everything after the country. On one hand, it's kind of amusing. The United States of America doesn't really have a proper country name, so to speak; they just call themselves "America," like the continent. (That's why it's pretty common for a lot of content creators to make jokes about Americans not knowing geography.)

Anyway, I feel like the Trump administration does these things as a way of trying to say, "We're gaining ground, we're having more influence, and we're making an impact." At least, that's how I see it.

The MAGA cult is just a bunch of brainwashed idiots, they reside mostly in what is called taker states while blue states are often giver states.

This administration is making a huge impact just as people like me predicted on this forum years ago, cost of living going up, healthcare getting worse, ruining relationships with our allies, starting wars, remember the MAGA cult was claiming Biden would start a war and Trump would be the "no new wars" President, look what happened.

The impact is huge, but not in any way that benefits Americans or the world instead its very much the opposite.

TheNaturalBoy - August 27, 2026, 12:56 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 12:45 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The MAGA cult is just a bunch of brainwashed idiots, they reside mostly in what is called taker states while blue states are often giver states.

This administration is making a huge impact just as people like me predicted on this forum years ago, cost of living going up, healthcare getting worse, ruining relationships with our allies, starting wars, remember the MAGA cult was claiming Biden would start a war and Trump would be the "no new wars" President, look what happened.

The impact is huge, but not in any way that benefits Americans or the world instead its very much the opposite.

Yeah, I feel the same way. I think it's a cult, in a way—a kind of religious cult, but also a cult of personality centered around Trump. I've seen some reports about guys of Mexican ancestry, or Latinos in general, or people whose parents are immigrants, who, despite being white or having subtle features that gave away their ancestry, were still very firm in their support for Trump. Only a few of them said something along the lines of, "We support the MAGA movement, but they're never going to see us as equals."

It's sad. I grew up seeing the United States as a model country in many ways, but lately there's been so much polarization, extremism, racism, and mass media/social media that only encourages people to become less aware of what's going on around them.

By the way, a few days ago I saw that a guy dressed as Spider-Man got arrested for punching one of those racist influencers, hahaha. I really hope that guy gets out soon. May Almighty God bless and protect the people of the United States and the American continent. A lot of far-right leaders have been gaining ground in countries across the south lately :'3

_VOX - August 27, 2026, 1:25 pm

He's bored of politics, knows he can't make any real change.

I can imagine him stepping down early, maybe the world will go back to normal after that if he's not replaced by one of his minions.

Plus his misses hates him and he's riding that young one that's going around with him.

Anyway I'm sick of paying the price for this dumbasses comments - and I'm based in Ireland

Prepper - August 27, 2026, 2:16 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 01:25 PM)_VOX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He's bored of politics, knows he can't make any real change.

I can imagine him stepping down early, maybe the world will go back to normal after that if he's not replaced by one of his minions.

Plus his misses hates him and he's riding that young one that's going around with him.

Anyway I'm sick of paying the price for this dumbasses comments - and I'm based in Ireland
He wont step down early, the only possibility is if Democrats win the house and senate and impeach him.

(Aug 27, 2026 12:56 PM)TheNaturalBoy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, I feel the same way. I think it's a cult, in a way—a kind of religious cult, but also a cult of personality centered around Trump. I've seen some reports about guys of Mexican ancestry, or Latinos in general, or people whose parents are immigrants, who, despite being white or having subtle features that gave away their ancestry, were still very firm in their support for Trump. Only a few of them said something along the lines of, "We support the MAGA movement, but they're never going to see us as equals."

It's sad. I grew up seeing the United States as a model country in many ways, but lately there's been so much polarization, extremism, racism, and mass media/social media that only encourages people to become less aware of what's going on around them.

By the way, a few days ago I saw that a guy dressed as Spider-Man got arrested for punching one of those racist influencers, hahaha. I really hope that guy gets out soon. May Almighty God bless and protect the people of the United States and the American continent. A lot of far-right leaders have been gaining ground in countries across the south lately :'3

I seen that video of that racist scumbag, who by the way was pardoned by Trump for his role during January 6th.

I will say the Spiderman situation was funny, but I don't support the violence, that piece of shit has freedom of speech and violence is exactly what he wants.

InspectorGadget - August 28, 2026, 9:27 am

A pathetic little manchild. I hope America learns from this. Who you vote in to power, actually matters.

America wanted to be the world police, but suddenly act like paying to be the world police should be a shared responsibility.

The Trump administration persistently alienates America's allies, yet wonders why they don't jump to his aid when it comes to Iran. When we can all see Iran is just as massive diversion from the Epstein files.

This renaming of Lake Ontario is just yet another attempt at diversion.

Phantom_NiNja - August 28, 2026, 9:50 am

(Aug 28, 2026 09:27 AM)InspectorGadget Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A pathetic little manchild. I hope America learns from this. Who you vote in to power, actually matters.

America wanted to be the world police, but suddenly act like paying to be the world police should be a shared responsibility.

The Trump administration persistently alienates America's allies, yet wonders why they don't jump to his aid when it comes to Iran. When we can all see Iran is just as massive diversion from the Epstein files.

This renaming of Lake Ontario is just yet another attempt at diversion.
It's actually fake. Americans don't get to pick who becomes president. They get to pick who they want after the rich select the people.

joe biden isn't better. Americans had 2 choices Biden that have billions away for free while 100% is borrowed money. The other trump.

After Trump AOC will become president even though she's not really qualified but she will be voted in by women.

Right now in the U.S.A most students in college are women. Most jobs are given to women due to the DEI.

My cities finance department is 100% women. 7 million men are at home not working at all and are abled bodies.

The only jobs that are open are labor jobs.. the crappiest jobs are open. The rest are given to women or a man from a rich family.

(Aug 27, 2026 11:47 AM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) To help the American people greatly afford food, gas and everything else and get costs down tremendously Donald Trump has signed an executive order lowering costs for Americans, he also signed an order for full disclosure on the Epstein Files.... oh wait I am incorrect on that.

Instead he signed an order renaming Lake Ontario to Lake America, surely this greatly helps the American people out tremendously.

<https://www.foxnews.com/politics/trump-renames-lake-ontario-lake-america-amid-intensifying-us-canada-trade-dispute>

He can't make food prices drop instantly. He made a lot of tax benefits for businesses. He bonus depreciation and research and development (R&D) expensing permanent for companies. The State and Local Tax (SALT) deduction limit temporarily rises to $40,400 for most filers through 2029 before dropping back to $10,000. You can review current brackets and thresholds detailed by U.S. Bank.

He made funds for powerplants to build more plants and tax credits or putting coal plants back in service with the latest tech like to make coal burn cleaner.

He's tryin but we won't see the effects of this until 3 years from now.

The economy has been going down since 1990s. Bill Clinton was the only one that made a surplus and George bush took that money to help finance the war in Iraq.

Again I am not for trump or biden. I fell both are not good for the country. They're too old but I even think AOC if the next president will ruin the country.

They will borrow them money and give it to the poor and push for medicare for all. Which will get us in a bad situation.

Do you want the DMV to be your healthcare provider?

(Aug 27, 2026 11:47 AM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) To help the American people greatly afford food, gas and everything else and get costs down tremendously Donald Trump has signed an executive order lowering costs for Americans, he also signed an order for full disclosure on the Epstein Files.... oh wait I am incorrect on that.

Instead he signed an order renaming Lake Ontario to Lake America, surely this greatly helps the American people out tremendously.

<https://www.foxnews.com/politics/trump-renames-lake-ontario-lake-america-amid-intensifying-us-canada-trade-dispute>

Instead of complaining what do you want from a president? What do you want him to do instead? He's trying his best.

He wanted to aquire Canada and Greenland so he could use those assets as leverage to refinance our debt. That was blocked.

He tried that, he then made changes to the tax code to allow businesses to invest more into their business. He raised the write offs on training employees. Yet, companies are abusing it. Hiring their own people that have no clue what they're doing.

InspectorGadget - August 28, 2026, 12:37 pm

(Aug 28, 2026 09:50 AM)Phantom_NiNja Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's actually fake. Americans don't get to pick who becomes president. They get to pick who they want after the rich select the people.

joe biden isn't better. Americans had 2 choices Biden that have billions away for free while 100% is borrowed money. The other trump.

After Trump AOC will become president even though she's not really qualified but she will be voted in by women.

Right now in the U.S.A most students in college are women. Most jobs are given to women due to the DEI.

My cities finance department is 100% women. 7 million men are at home not working at all and are abled bodies.

The only jobs that are open are labor jobs.. the crappiest jobs are open. The rest are given to women or a man from a rich family.

Yep, the whole system is rotten to the core, and the whole world has to deal with it. -__-

Prepper - August 28, 2026, 5:09 pm

(Aug 28, 2026 09:50 AM)Phantom_NiNja Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He can't make food prices drop instantly. He made a lot of tax benefits for businesses. He bonus depreciation and research and development (R&D) expensing permanent for companies. The State and Local Tax (SALT) deduction limit temporarily rises to $40,400 for most filers through 2029 before dropping back to $10,000. You can review current brackets and thresholds detailed by U.S. Bank.

He made funds for powerplants to build more plants and tax credits or putting coal plants back in service with the latest tech like to make coal burn cleaner.

He's tryin but we won't see the effects of this until 3 years from now.

The economy has been going down since 1990s. Bill Clinton was the only one that made a surplus and George bush took that money to help finance the war in Iraq.

Again I am not for trump or biden. I fell both are not good for the country. They're too old but I even think AOC if the next president will ruin the country.

They will borrow them money and give it to the poor and push for medicare for all. Which will get us in a bad situation.

Do you want the DMV to be your healthcare provider?

Instead of complaining what do you want from a president? What do you want him to do instead? He's trying his best.

He wanted to aquire Canada and Greenland so he could use those assets as leverage to refinance our debt. That was blocked.

He tried that, he then made changes to the tax code to allow businesses to invest more into their business. He raised the write offs on training employees. Yet, companies are abusing it. Hiring their own people that have no clue what they're doing.

His actions directly caused the rise in food prices, his tax cuts for billionaires did not benefit middle class and low income Americans, his tariffs didn't make things cheaper for Americans it caused a rise in prices. His war in Iran has also caused a rise in oil prices which guess what? that increases the cost of producing and shipping products. Lets also not forget his cuts to the FDA have directly resulted in a lot more recalls of food products which also doesn't help.

His tariff and economic policies have slowed growth in this country.

It's funny you mention the coal industry, I live in one of top coal states, his tariffs have directly impacted coal exports which cost jobs.

He threatened to invade Greenland, he has made threats towards Canada they are not US territories, they don't want to be and Trump has no fucking right to threaten them in regards to it, you mentioning this just highlights more incompetence and delusion from this Administration.

Phantom_NiNja - August 28, 2026, 8:40 pm

(Aug 28, 2026 05:09 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) His actions directly caused the rise in food prices, his tax cuts for billionaires did not benefit middle class and low income Americans, his tariffs didn't make things cheaper for Americans it caused a rise in prices. His war in Iran has also caused a rise in oil prices which guess what? that increases the cost of producing and shipping products. Lets also not forget his cuts to the FDA have directly resulted in a lot more recalls of food products which also doesn't help.

His tariff and economic policies have slowed growth in this country.

It's funny you mention the coal industry, I live in one of top coal states, his tariffs have directly impacted coal exports which cost jobs.

He threatened to invade Greenland, he has made threats towards Canada they are not US territories, they don't want to be and Trump has no fucking right to threaten them in regards to it, you mentioning this just highlights more incompetence and delusion from this Administration.

I hear this often, I can see it in the job boards. However, every day I walk outside I see 18 year olds driving a lambo down a major road flooring it. I see tons of people with brand new cars, trucks, ev trucks. I see people still eating at Mcdonalds still packed. I don't see the slow downs physically.

I hear you and others online. Trump and his admin are saying the opposite. I cannot get a job in accounting. I have a degree in it but when I apply to jobs and when I do have interviews the companies are picky. They act like they want a PHD to work their entry level jobs and accept entry level pay.

They have made me take online exams, take in person exams and go thru a humiliation ritual and this been going on where I am at since 2007.

So, I don't know what is true. What if trump plans to negotiate with china and other countries later down to road to better deals. He's known as a deal maker where he normally plays chicken. I feel he's doing all this to hurt the other nation to the point where they will have to cave in and make a deal that doesn't favor them. Who knows... We have until 2029 then AOC will end up taking over. That's my prediction.

but what is you're point? like what do you want done? because I doubt AOC is coming to come in at 2029 and start fixing things. She will make things worse. They want medicare for all. Are you for that? turn our hospitals into the DMV? lol

I don't see anything good about this for the future.

Prepper - August 28, 2026, 9:15 pm

(Aug 28, 2026 08:40 PM)Phantom_NiNja Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I hear this often, I can see it in the job boards. However, every day I walk outside I see 18 year olds driving a lambo down a major road flooring it. I see tons of people with brand new cars, trucks, ev trucks. I see people still eating at Mcdonalds still packed. I don't see the slow downs physically.

I hear you and others online. Trump and his admin are saying the opposite. I cannot get a job in accounting. I have a degree in it but when I apply to jobs and when I do have interviews the companies are picky. They act like they want a PHD to work their entry level jobs and accept entry level pay.

They have made me take online exams, take in person exams and go thru a humiliation ritual and this been going on where I am at since 2007.

So, I don't know what is true. What if trump plans to negotiate with china and other countries later down to road to better deals. He's known as a deal maker where he normally plays chicken. I feel he's doing all this to hurt the other nation to the point where they will have to cave in and make a deal that doesn't favor them. Who knows... We have until 2029 then AOC will end up taking over. That's my prediction.

but what is you're point? like what do you want done? because I doubt AOC is coming to come in at 2029 and start fixing things. She will make things worse. They want medicare for all. Are you for that? turn our hospitals into the DMV? lol

I don't see anything good about this for the future.

Some of the people you are seeing with fancy vehicles are rich people or people with higher paying jobs or kids with rich daddies, just because the economy is doing terrible under this administration doesn't mean rich people or people with higher paying jobs don't exist.

You mention McDonalds, they recently acknowledged a significant drop in customers due to low income people cutting back on eating out at fast food which is why they have been trying to push for cheaper menu items.

I have said many times on this forum that I am all for universal healthcare studies show it works and countries with universal healthcare spend less overall compared to the US as it is.

Do you want someone in your family one day who unfortunately ends up with cancer, loses their job and doesn't meet the requirements for benefits because Trump has cut those benefits and they cannot afford the treatment they need to survive and they end up dying from what was treatable? this happens all of the time in the USA.

Does universal healthcare have some challenges in other countries that would need to be worked out if implemented in the USA, yes but the issues are waiting periods for non-urgent procedures.

People deserve healthcare without the fear of losing everything they own or dying because they cannot get it.

Also the next election is likely to come down to Gavin Newsom or Andy Beshear, but if it comes down to AOC or a Trump MAGA puppet I would vote for AOC without hesitation, Id rather see someone like Andy win though.

Phantom_NiNja - August 29, 2026, 9:18 am

(Aug 28, 2026 09:15 PM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Some of the people you are seeing with fancy vehicles are rich people or people with higher paying jobs or kids with rich daddies, just because the economy is doing terrible under this administration doesn't mean rich people or people with higher paying jobs don't exist.

You mention McDonalds, they recently acknowledged a significant drop in customers due to low income people cutting back on eating out at fast food which is why they have been trying to push for cheaper menu items.

I have said many times on this forum that I am all for universal healthcare studies show it works and countries with universal healthcare spend less overall compared to the US as it is.

Do you want someone in your family one day who unfortunately ends up with cancer, loses their job and doesn't meet the requirements for benefits because Trump has cut those benefits and they cannot afford the treatment they need to survive and they end up dying from what was treatable? this happens all of the time in the USA.

Does universal healthcare have some challenges in other countries that would need to be worked out if implemented in the USA, yes but the issues are waiting periods for non-urgent procedures.

People deserve healthcare without the fear of losing everything they own or dying because they cannot get it.

Also the next election is likely to come down to Gavin Newsom or Andy Beshear, but if it comes down to AOC or a Trump MAGA puppet I would vote for AOC without hesitation, Id rather see someone like Andy win though.

These are not rich people. I live in a city that is majority poor and middle class. There's some rich people but that's like 1% of our city population.

I hear on the news and online that economy is tanking. I tell this to my sisters one is a doctor the other is a stay at home mom but married to a doctor.

They tell me that I am a gloomer that what I say isn't true and I just wish it were true. I been telling them this since 2007. They told me everyone they know has a job. Which most are just doing labor jobs.

Anytime I go out and drive to walmart or other places. I see a ton of brand new cars. New EV ford trucks. I read online that walmart sees a slowdown.

I go to my local walmart and it's packed.

I don't know what I see online is exactly what you're saying. I agree with it because for me I can only get a labor job. I can't get any entry job in accounting even though I have a degree in it and have my EA license to do taxes. Even tax places where I live wont hire me they want experienced people only.

So, I agree with you but any time I go out and even my sisters point it out that there's people outside buying houses buying new cars. I see what they say and it doesn't add up.

Like we are getting by but even if I got a job they would start me out at $40,000 a year as an accountant. That pay I won't be able to afford to live on my own. I know a guy from my highschool he got his CPA and is working for an italian resturant. He makes $200,000 and goes on expensive vacations 2 times a year. He has 3 brand new cars 2 cars and a pickuptruck. He has 2 kids and a wife and a new house.

(Aug 28, 2026 09:15 PM)Prepper Wrote: CITE Some of the people you are seeing with fancy vehicles are rich people or people with higher paying jobs or kids with rich daddies, just because the economy is doing terrible under this administration doesn't mean rich people or people with higher paying jobs don't exist.

You mention McDonalds, they recently acknowledged a significant drop in customers due to low income people cutting back on eating out at fast food which is why they have been trying to push for cheaper menu items.

I have said many times on this forum that I am all for universal healthcare studies show it works and countries with universal healthcare spend less overall compared to the US as it is.

Do you want someone in your family one day who unfortunately ends up with cancer, loses their job and doesn't meet the requirements for benefits because Trump has cut those benefits and they cannot afford the treatment they need to survive and they end up dying from what was treatable? this happens all of the time in the USA.

Does universal healthcare have some challenges in other countries that would need to be worked out if implemented in the USA, yes but the issues are waiting periods for non-urgent procedures.

People deserve healthcare without the fear of losing everything they own or dying because they cannot get it.

Also the next election is likely to come down to Gavin Newsom or Andy Beshear, but if it comes down to AOC or a Trump MAGA puppet I would vote for AOC without hesitation, Id rather see someone like Andy win though.

I hear you about healthcare. I wish that having medicare for everyone is a magic wand. The problem is that there's no pressure to have doctors and hospitals do a good job. I just looked at canada and there was an indian accountant that went to the hospital complaining of chest pain.

They told him it's heart burn gave him some over the counter heartburn med and told him to go home. He was walking to the entrance of the hospital and then collapsed and died. The wife is suing due to racism. She claimed the doctor didn't want to help him because he was indian.

Then there was a kid that died from septic shock. They made him wait in the waiting room.

I have looked at socialized medicine yes it covers everyone even if you don't have a job. However, it gives no incentives for doctors to do a good job.

So, what happens you get doctors that don't care and would do the bare minimum because doing more has no incentives.

Right now hospitals in the U.S.A hire top talent. There's pressure to hire the best doctor that they can get. The doctors and staff are pushed to do their best job. Now with the current economics it's getting harder to do this. When hospitals are mismanaged they die out and get bought out.

My point is yes universal healthcare is good because everyone gets access to it but it costs you to getting the best care. You're pretty much settling to get healthcare from hobos on the street... you will get poor healthcare but at least everyone gets some kind of care right?

I am for it but I think the best system is having both universal healthcare and caplist system. If everyone can get the care and there's no limit on hospitals making money. Then you still give them incentives to work harder. It will be a better system.

I personally don't think AOC should be president. I would rather have someone else but I know she will be the next one because majority in the U.S.A that are working are women and most that are going to college are women. They all online have said they want her to run. She then announced she's running for demos.

The next election I am not voting at all. I think we are royally fucked regardless who comes in .

(Aug 28, 2026 09:15 PM)Prepper Wrote: CITE Some of the people you are seeing with fancy vehicles are rich people or people with higher paying jobs or kids with rich daddies, just because the economy is doing terrible under this administration doesn't mean rich people or people with higher paying jobs don't exist.

You mention McDonalds, they recently acknowledged a significant drop in customers due to low income people cutting back on eating out at fast food which is why they have been trying to push for cheaper menu items.

I have said many times on this forum that I am all for universal healthcare studies show it works and countries with universal healthcare spend less overall compared to the US as it is.

Do you want someone in your family one day who unfortunately ends up with cancer, loses their job and doesn't meet the requirements for benefits because Trump has cut those benefits and they cannot afford the treatment they need to survive and they end up dying from what was treatable? this happens all of the time in the USA.

Does universal healthcare have some challenges in other countries that would need to be worked out if implemented in the USA, yes but the issues are waiting periods for non-urgent procedures.

People deserve healthcare without the fear of losing everything they own or dying because they cannot get it.

Also the next election is likely to come down to Gavin Newsom or Andy Beshear, but if it comes down to AOC or a Trump MAGA puppet I would vote for AOC without hesitation, I'd rather see someone like Andy win though.

If you talked to my old self. I would agree with you that socialized medicine is a good thing. I changed when I went to college and took my accounting and economics. This topic always came up. I fundamentally think healthcare isn't a business. It should be considered part of the government or even if private it would need to be outside the realm of business.

In the U.S.A we call them non-profit organizations. The reason is that the model isn't really a business model. People go to you to fix their issues. It's not like they come to you because they want you to do some services on a good day. So, they run the hospital in a way that the point isn't about making money but providing a service everyone needs out of necessity. Over here in the U.S.A Hospitals pay zero property taxes. They do pay income taxes.

The thing is I agree that everyone should have access to healthcare regardless your situation. Even if you don't have a job.

In the U.S.A we have something called welfare aka medicaid it's medical coverage but you have to be considered poor. Every state has their income level that is considered poor in their own states. It's alot easier to qualify for medicaid in California and new york compared to other states. It's because of cost of living in those states are high.

So, in the U.S.A if you have no job and are considered poor then you can qualify for these programs but you have to apply for it and get approval before going to a doctor. However, if you been making $200,000 a year and then lost your job. Obama fixed this issue. In the past like before 2014 you would be screwed because back then you can only get health insurance thru your employer. Now, after 2014 you can still get healthcare coverage but you will pay out of pocket. In the past you would have no insurance and if you go to the doctors you could easily get a $100,000 bill. That you would have to pay.

I am for universal healthcare for all but I feel there needs to be 50% social and 50% capitals. Like you it shouldn't be free but you pay a percentage but even if you don't have a job. They shouldn't charge interest. You pay it when you get a job or could afford to. Like they can garnish your wages but you can make arrangements like if you're forthcoming of your situations that you can make and agreement after working for 1 year the year 2 you can pay.

Lefty - August 31, 2026, 10:46 pm

I just dont understand what happening in this world anymore. more and more is a simulation

Rahul007rhp - September 1, 2026, 7:11 am

Not sure how good it will bring to the people of america

Prepper - September 1, 2026, 7:22 am

(Sep 1, 2026 07:11 AM)Rahul007rhp Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not sure how good it will bring to the people of america

It does zero for the American people or the world, all it did for Americans was make things worse by further hurting our relationship with one of our closest allies, this trade war which is completely pointless is just raising prices but what can you expect when we have a president who literally said affordability is a hoax and that he wants to drive up prices and that said "I don't care about you I just want your vote".

spins - September 3, 2026, 7:42 pm

Just leave things already named alone, I don't really get it lol..

The Pact - September 3, 2026, 9:36 pm

(Aug 27, 2026 11:47 AM)Prepper Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) To help the American people greatly afford food, gas and everything else and get costs down tremendously Donald Trump has signed an executive order lowering costs for Americans, he also signed an order for full disclosure on the Epstein Files.... oh wait I am incorrect on that.

Instead he signed an order renaming Lake Ontario to Lake America, surely this greatly helps the American people out tremendously.

<https://www.foxnews.com/politics/trump-renames-lake-ontario-lake-america-amid-intensifying-us-canada-trade-dispute>

Did some Canadian chick reject him sexually in 1994 or something? Why is he constantly trying to enrage Canadians? ?

Prepper - September 4, 2026, 10:46 am

(Sep 3, 2026 09:36 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Did some Canadian chick reject him sexually in 1994 or something? Why is he constantly trying to enrage Canadians? ?

Very possible

But I think it is the fact that Trump has a dictator mindset he wants it his way or no way and anyone who disagrees with him in the slightest he targets, when Trump pushed his Tariffs initially Canada was not going to sit still and take that bullying so they retaliated with tariffs, and every time Trump has targeted Canada they have retaliated back the same.

He doesn't like that so simply based on the fact that Canada retaliated with tariffs and didn't bow down and praise Trump he will continue to target Canada.

Lefty - September 5, 2026, 12:57 am

The guy is dying whilst losing relevancy and now is trying to get attention. SAD!

Sift - September 5, 2026, 3:21 am

Lake greenland

Prepper - September 6, 2026, 2:29 pm

Once again instead of focusing on helping the American people he is now suggesting that New Mexico be renamed New America.

He certainly doesn't want to focus on the fact that diesel has hit a record high, he doesn't want to focus on the fact that the national debt has soared to over 40 trillion, the list goes on.