What do you think about everything today with Pokemon? ?

Deany - August 30, 2026, 8:32 pm

No , but some streamers I watch are into it heavy. My main specialty or collecting is Gunpla. Thankfully that one isn't in bubble like Pokemon atm

CyberXero - August 30, 2026, 9:29 pm

Yeah I got the biggest pokemom collection,

Supryt - August 30, 2026, 10:50 pm

No, has been sold it all last year.

Was fun being collector of Pokemon card while there were hype Pokemon Go few years ago.

Beherit - August 31, 2026, 3:30 am

Cards are going for crazy prices. I still have my Yugioh cards, but I they probably aren't in the best condition.

YouDeletedMyOldOne - August 31, 2026, 6:47 am

No man, no

Nikola.4737n - August 31, 2026, 8:17 am

Yeah, I have a big collection of it.

I swear Ancient Mews were going for just a few bucks for the longest, had stacks of them. Now they are like $100 each only in the last few years? Crazy.

Not since shortly after the beginning of the new millennium. Oddly enough, I may even remember where they are in storage, or at least have a good feeling where they are.

I miss my darkworld deck

I've started getting away from it lately for how expensive it's getting. I enjoy my current collection and other than playing the actual game, I only have an interest in a few cards.

Mercury - August 31, 2026, 1:48 pm

At times I would like to pick it back up, but then I very quickly lose interest. My wife works for a large retailer and the stories I hear about these literal grown ass neckbeard men and their never ending quests for Pokemon cards is frankly fucking pathetic. You can't find the damn things anywhere and that's real fucking sad for the actual children out there who would truly enjoy them for what they are.

Fights actually break out over these cards. Literal adults are showing up hours before brick and mortar stores open to camp for releases just so they can either resell them or keep them for themselves. The vendors who put these cards out on the shelves are literally being stalked where I live.

Keep the fucking things, lol.

Ya they turned into gambling. Pay $6 and you might win $0.01-$2000.

Card stores = cashier to cash out your winnings.

Better stick to PokemonGO. ?

Interesting take. I never really considered these clowns to be gambling addicts but I guess in a lot of ways, that's absolutely the case.

Kids, parents & all! That is why the pull rates are different in Japan, the government recognises this as gambling.

Found a pokemon card other day laying on the ground then I lost it lol

I think Pokémon is still fun and nostalgic, but it has become much more commercial than it used to be. I still understand why so many people love it, though. ?
