

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Ai Agents for Hacking like Claude Mythos

ResearchLabPentagon - September 6, 2026, 10:08 am

Hello yall,

in what kind of ways could one utilize Ai agents to do WebApp vulnerability scans or find exploits in a given Website for example, can it be usefull during enumeration?

Also on a side note can it be somehow tied together with Discord as a RDP server, i saw a Video where someone uses a discord bot he made that gives him an open port to work with.

Thanks for any advice

DramaKing - September 6, 2026, 10:57 am

This whole thing is nonsensical. First of all, frontier models like GPT-5.6 Cyber are restricted. Second, chatbots are not the same as agents. Third, using the largest, most powerful AI models in the world for menial footprinting and enumeration tasks could cost a horrendous amount of money.

Finally, Discord has absolutely nothing to do with RDP.

ResearchLabPentagon - September 6, 2026, 11:03 am

(Sep 6, 2026 10:57 AM)DramaKing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This whole thing is nonsensical. First of all, frontier models like GPT-5.6 Cyber are restricted. Second, chatbots are not the same as agents. Third, using the largest, most powerful AI models in the world for menial footprinting and enumeration tasks could cost a horrendous amount of money.

Finally, Discord has absolutely nothing to do with RDP.

Yeah i wordet it kinda retardet, but what i was thinking of using ai to search for new exploits based on allready existing ones in a given Service.

Burning tokens to do that might actually be nonsensical, was just playing with the Idea since Claude Mythos seemed to be pretty powerfull but not disclosed to public.

The Part with the Discord i just meant using it to operate a RAT.

Thanks for the response tho

DramaKing - September 6, 2026, 11:12 am

(Sep 6, 2026 11:03 AM)ResearchLabPentagon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah i wordet it kinda retardet, but what i was thinking of using ai to search for new exploits based on allready existing ones in a given Service.

Burning tokens to do that might actually be nonsensical, was just playing with the Idea since Claude Mythos seemed to be pretty powerfull but not disclosed to public.

The Part with the Discord i just meant using it to operate a RAT.

Thanks for the response tho

Discord RATs? Sure. But if you look at the zero-days discovered by Mythos, they cost thousands of dollars in tokens.