Thread: Talk about a warm welcome

leste0 - September 14, 2026, 12:39 pm

Made this account recently and dropped my technical writeup on XDP/eBPF earlier today, honestly expecting it to sit in the corner with 0 reactions or get buried.

Refreshed my notifications a few minutes ago to see my very first reaction on the boards... and it's a quick love from Omni himself lmao.

Talk about setting the bar impossibly high for my next threads. Definitely gave me the motivation to write up part 2 with dynamic eBPF maps much sooner than planned.

Appreciate the welcome Omniscient Good to be here.

Welcome to HF. I'm idling in Convo (live chat feature) and when new threads are created there is a notification.

I consider a portion of my role as Admin of HF to be not only running the backend but to be a part of the community and be an example of activity.

Good to know! Most owners are completely hands-off after so many years, so it's definitely cool seeing you actually active in the community.

Appreciate the welcome, see you around Convo.

Welcome O.P.

What does eBMF stand for? We only get coverage for DTF here, and at most 2FA (though I haven't bothered to set it up, Omni knows all our passwords anyways - when he says the dungeon troll fairy tale isn't made up, take his word as fact).

Momma, I made it to live television. Wanted to thank my hook-ups from junior high, and also the dealer who gets me high, but most importantly ms. Candace from secondary school that taught us the proverbial euphemism "Teach a man to addition, he'll be multiplying and dividing on his way to Calculus"

Passwords on HF are actually salted and hashed in the DB. HF also have Social Logins so if you were really paranoid you could just login with that. But realistically you should never use passwords across multiple services or platforms.

Hi everyone, I'm Ozz_1. I'm new to Hack Forums and just getting familiar with the community. I'm mainly interested in technology and learning new things. Nice to meet you all.
